Moscow Sessions Adjourned To Resume Deliberations In Fall In London

MARSHALL SEES SOME PROGRESS

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, April 25.—United States Secretary of State Marshall left by plane for Washington today to report to the American people on the meager results of the Big Four foreign ministers conference in Moscow.

Marshall, disappointed at the failure of the seven-week conference to make progress on a German treaty and approve a pact for Austria, is due to arrive in Washington tomorrow and his radio address to the nation is scheduled tentatively for Sunday or Monday.

Next Meeting In November

His next meeting with the top foreign affairs spokesmen of Britain, Russia and France will be in November when the Big Four council resumes its deliberations in London.

The conference designed to work on German and Austrian peace settlements was formally concluded with a banquet tendered by Premier Stalin at the Kremlin last night to the foreign ministers and their top aides.

The Soviets maintained their adamant stand on salient issues to the last.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov at the final session categorically rejected Marshall's proposal that the Austrian treaty be referred to the United Nations General Assembly at its September meeting.

"Such questions," Molotov said, "do not come within the competence of the UN."

May Submit Issues

The United States, however, itself may submit the issue to the UN if the Soviets do not indicate they are prepared to make concessions before September.

Marshall said at his last formal news conference in the Soviet capital that he believes "we have a fair chance of reaching agreements on these critical matters within a reasonable time however depressing these present delays may appear."

He added:

"I was reasonably aware when I (Continued on Page Two)

Mr. and Mrs. John Kozanski, R. D. 1, Wampum, report that their Guernsey cow gave birth to twin bull calves on Sunday, April 19.

City police are enforcing the regulation which prohibits playing a juke box after midnight. An East Side beverage parlor was instructed to turn off the machine at midnight last night.

Pa Newc is in receipt of a communication which reports that a motorist was making a right turn at the 31st and Washington street intersection, which is forbidden by traffic regulations. The violation occurred at 8 p. m. April 23, the report said.

Many unhappy housewives who had just finished spring cleaning were reluctantly forced to re-clean their homes again on Thursday evening, to take the chilliness out of the homes. Predicted warm weather on Thursday failed to materialize with the evening air being quite crisp.

Pa Newc learns that two churches of the city will be celebrating their Golden Anniversary during June. The congregation of the Christian and Missionary Alliance on Pearson street and that of the Central Christian church on Long avenue will be the celebrants. Both churches began back in 1897 with very few of the original founders of the two churches still living.

Automobile Industry Studies GM Agreement

DETROIT, April 25.—(INS)—The automobile industry today studied the General Motors-UAW wage agreement, which probably will set a pattern.

The agreement provides an average hourly wage increase of 15 cents for 230,000 GM employees in 100 plants in 22 states over the nation. The cost to the corporation is estimated at 66 million dollars a year.

The settlement is expected to establish a pattern for negotiations with Chrysler, Ford and smaller automobile manufacturers, and to ward off strikes.

The United Auto Workers (CIO) and Chrysler have been meeting spasmodically since January 1. No meetings are scheduled at present, but talks are expected to start in the near future and an early agreement, published after the GM-UAW settlement, is anticipated.

A similar situation is expected to prevail between Ford and its workers, and in negotiations with Hudson, Packard and other firms.

G.M. Contract

The G.M. contract, effective for one year after rank and file ratification, calls for:

1. Raises of 11½ cents an hour effective at once, providing union members ratify it by May 1.

2. Six paid holidays a year.

3. Vacation pay on the basis of 40 hours for employees with one (Continued on Page Two)

Phone Strike Negotiations Are Reopened

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(INS)—Resumption of seven-week government-sponsored negotiations in the 18-day-old telephone strike were postponed several hours today at the request of union leaders.

A bargaining parley between the AT&T and the Long Lines affiliate of the National Federation of Telephone Workers originally scheduled for 10 a. m. (EST), was postponed until 3 p. m.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—New government-sponsored negotiations in the 18-day-old telephone strike were postponed several hours today at the request of union leaders.

The AT&T Long Lines division and its Southwestern Bell subsidiary accepted invitations to the Washington parleys, but the Labor Department still was awaiting a reply from the Western Electric-AT&T manufacturing unit.

U. S. Conciliation Director Edgar L. Warren and his aides believed that a "break" on any of the three fronts would open the way to a general strike settlement since the strikers' demands are uniform for all AT&T divisions.

Reopen Conferences

The Long Distance affiliate of the National Federation of Telephone Workers and the AT&T were to open their bargaining conferences today.

The parties reached a tentative agreement in the Long Lines dispute early in the strike, but it was rejected by the NFWT Policy Committee. The pact provided for arbitration of the union's demands.

President And Cabinet Discuss Phone Strike

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(INS)—President Truman discussed the telephone strike and the Moscow conference with his cabinet this morning.

Bureaucratic matters also were considered.

Secretary of Interior Krug, said after the cabinet session that the only thing that appears new in the telephone strike is that efforts to conciliate the strike "are starting all over again."

Secretary of War Patterson, who said that the Moscow conference came up for brief discussion, pointed out that Secretary of State Marshall is returning to Washington to make a report.

Record Numbers Of Japanese Are Going To Polls

TOYKO, April 25.—(INS)—Japanese voters turned out in record numbers today to elect house of representatives which will choose a prime minister to lead the country through the vital coming period of peace negotiations.

Early indications were that more voters were going to the polls than the number who cast ballots on April 10, 1946, in the first Diet (parliament) election held under the allied occupation.

The heavy turnout substantiated pre-election predictions that the balloting on candidates for the house of representatives would be far heavier than the voting earlier this month for provincial governors and members of the new House of Councillors.

QUAKE SHOCK IS RECORDED TODAY

NEW YORK, April 25.—(INS)—A "fairly severe" earthquake, originating 3,060 miles southeast of New York, possibly in Colombia, was recorded today by the Fordham university seismograph.

The quake occurred yesterday afternoon. The shocks were registered at 2:13:33 p. m. (EST) and the second at 2:20:12 p. m.

Any person or persons disturbing the session will be forcibly escorted out. It was stated here. Indemnity literature will not be permitted.

Pickets And Demonstrators To Be Barred

Scene Of U. S. Special Assembly Is Declared "Off Limits" For All Demonstrators

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 25.—(INS)—Flushing Meadows Park, scene of the United Nations special assembly on Palestine, was declared "off limits" today for pickets and demonstrators.

Security measures undertaken by United Nations authorities provide for barring unauthorized groups and crowds not only from inside the auditorium but from the grounds surrounding it.

Any person or persons disturbing the session will be forcibly escorted out. It was stated here. Indemnity literature will not be permitted.

Frank Bagley, in charge of United Nations security, said that he expected "the best instead of the worst" and said that his plans were laid on the principle that "New Yorkers know how to behave."

While the usual precautions will be taken against agitators, only 200 New York policemen have been requested for duty outside the auditorium with 50 U. N. security guards on the job inside.

An emergency "stand-by" detail of police will be kept handy at Flushing in case their presence is required. The public will be tricked off any suspicious-looking packages.

Three Points

Bevin emphasized that there are three things to consider in the new building of a German state.

1.—To construct it in a form that will not constitute any menace to European stability.

2.—To build it on a Democratic basis, with powers in the hands of the people.

3.—To measure the level of industry and economic development to endure an adequate standard of living without creating a new war potential.

Bevin said that one of the fundamental differences among the Big Four was in agreeing upon a definition of democracy.

Bevin said he sympathized with the Soviet Union, which endured invasion as well as bombing. But he said all war damage and losses must be balanced against creation of an economic situation which would engender a war potential in Germany.

The British foreign secretary expressed deep disappointment over failure of the Big Four to accept Secretary of State Marshall's proposal for a 40-year allied treaty designed to make any new German aggression impossible.

Fact-Finding Commission

No Time Change In New Castle

Mayor States That Council Believes Last Fall's Vote Was Decisive

Relative to daylight savings time, Mayor John P. Haven today stated that "I have talked the daylight savings time question over with members of council and it is our decision to keep the clocks as they now are which means that insofar as the city officially is concerned, there will be no daylight savings time."

"I feel the voters expressed their desire at the last election when daylight savings time was voted down. The city's official clocks will remain 'as is,'" the mayor said.

Some institutions in the city plan to advance the day's starting and finishing time for employees, in order to have independent observance of fast time in their places of business, it is reported today.

Former Football Star Is Victim Of Gas Explosion

VERNAL, Utah, April 25.—(INS)—A natural gas explosion near Vernal killed a former University of Oklahoma football star and left five oil workers injured today.

Killed in the blast yesterday at a test well 12 miles west of Vernal was Ralph Hayden, 29, who captained the Oklahoma grid team in 1940.

Sheriff Herbert M. Snyder said the explosion hurled Harris into a mud pit where he suffocated before aid could reach him.

The former college star reportedly had signed a contract to play with the professional Los Angeles Dons.

Fix Heavy Bail For Sale Of Gun

PHILADELPHIA, April 25.—(INS)—Bail was set at $20,000 today for a Germantown out-state drug store proprietor charged with selling a revolver to a youth accused of slaying two Philadelphia policemen.

The defendant—Max Feinberg, 30—was charged with selling the German-made weapon to William Horn Hallowell, 23-year-old alleged slayer of the policemen during a running gun battle.

Police said Hallowell bought the gun from Feinberg for $25 about three months ago.

Judge Francis Shunk Brown fixed the huge bail for Feinberg, who was charged specifically with violation of the Wilkin Firearm Act and being an accessory after the fact.

Hallowell is charged with killing Police Sgt. Samuel Hewitt and Patrolman James J. Quigley when they attempted to arrest him as he drove an allegedly stolen car.

The youth is in critical condition at Germantown hospital from six bullet wounds inflicted by the dead officers during the battle.

WOMAN KILLED BY AUTO

PITTSBURGH, April 25.—(INS)—Mrs. Mary Smith, 80, of Pittsburgh, was killed last night when struck by a car driven by the Rev. Charles A. Hartung of nearby Pitcairn.

Many Problems Face Marshall On Return

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
WASHINGTON, April 25.—The return of Secretary of State George C. Marshall from the "Big Four" foreign ministers' meeting in Moscow was expected today to release a logjam of accumulated diplomatic problems in the State department.

Marshall is scheduled to leave Moscow by plane early today. He is due to arrive in Washington late tomorrow night.

To Make Report

Thereafter Marshall is expected to make an early report to the American people on the Moscow conference. While it has been indicated that he would go on the radio Sunday or Monday night, some advisors in Washington think it would be more effective for him to address a joint session of Congress.

In this way, it was urged, he can lay the situation before the American people while not seeming to lessen the importance of Congress in carrying out foreign policy. Moreover, it is contended, he may thus also relieve himself of repeated appearances before various congressional committees having to do with foreign relations.

However, all plans are being held (Continued on Page Two)

U. S. Will Aid Japs To Halt Smuggling

TOKYO, April 25.—(INS)—General MacArthur's headquarters announced today that 28 unarmed United States auxiliary sub chasers and 10 patrol craft have been turned over to the Japanese government.

The announcement said the vessels will be used to stamp out smuggling and prevent persons from entering Japan illegally. They will be operated by the Maritime bureau of the Japanese Transportation ministry, subject to repositioning by headquarters at any time.

Police Billet Is Blown Up In Palestine

JERUSALEM, April 25.—(INS)—A police billet at Sarona, east of Tel Aviv, was blown up today by a "heavy" explosion and six British constables were officially reported "missing."

Rescue workers began immediately to dig into the debris for the victims.

The official announcement said the explosion was caused by two bombs. They destroyed the orderly room and the telephone exchange.

An unofficial report from Sarona said the station also was attacked by the Jewish underground.

All police stations in the vicinity were alerted against attacks.

Simultaneously five armed Jewish "underground" kidnapped Morris Collins, a British citizen, from a hotel in Tel Aviv. They released him when he informed the gang that he is a Jew.

The underground gang disconnected all the telephones in the hotel before searching the rooms on the ground floor.

Before they began their search they asked the manager, "any British here?"

Finding Collins on the terrace they blindfolded him and took him away in a car. They returned him 15 minutes later after Collins' disclosure that he is a Jew.

Contract For 'Inch' Lines Gas

PITTSBURGH, April 25.—(INS)—Ward Perrott, president of the Equitable Gas company of Pittsburgh, today announced that contracts have been signed with the Texas Eastern Transmission company for daily delivery of 30 million cubic feet of natural gas through the "Inch" lines into Pittsburgh.

Perrott said an interim contract, effective May 1, will continue in effect until the Texas company obtains permanent possession of the "Inch" lines.

The new contract will double Equitable's present supply of 15 million cubic feet daily. Increased deliveries will begin as soon as new transmission compressor stations can be installed, Perrott said.

Suggests Relief Administrator To Supervise Program

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(INS)—Rep. Barton (R-N. J.) suggested that President Truman name a relief administrator to supervise the entire American relief program, including Greek-Turkish aid.

The chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee pointed out that Congress is now considering the appropriation of $1 million dollars for overseas relief and added that "there'll be requests for more, make no mistake about that."

Barton said a new office should be created to handle the program, headed by a capable administrator who is not connected with the State Department.

Secretary Makes Berlin Stopover On Plane Trip

Marshall Tells Berlin News-men Moscow Conference Was No Failure

EXPECTS TO REACH U. S. ON SATURDAY (BULLETIN)

BERLIN, April 25.—(INS)—Secretary of State Marshall made a two-hour stopover in Berlin today enroute to the United States from Moscow.

Marshall's plane left Tempelhof Airdrome at 3:20 p. m. He had arrived at the German capital at 1:30 p. m.

At the airport he conferred with Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor in Germany, and Maj. Gen. Frank Keating, commander of the U. S. sector of Berlin.

(Reuters reported that Marshall's plane will not halt in Paris, and if the weather permits will travel direct by way of Iceland and Newfoundland to the U. S.)

No Failure

Marshall told newsmen assembled at the airport to hear his views on the Big Four foreign ministers conference at Moscow:

"The conference was no failure, but I was disappointed because I had hoped that we would get an Austrian treaty finished."

He added:

"It would have been impossible to finish completely the German treaty, but I hoped we would agree more widely on fundamental issues."

Marshall declared:

Must Be Reconciled

"The differences of opinion between the Soviets and the western Allies must be reconciled because we don't know how long Europe can endure while we are struggling with the problem."

The secretary said there will be a short meeting of the foreign ministers in New York in September before the scheduled London conference in November.

Marshall declined to comment on reports that a western state will be set up in Germany. He noted, however, that the American and French views came closer together at Moscow.

He is scheduled to stop over briefly in Berlin before starting on the second leg of his trip. He is due to arrive in Washington late tomorrow.

'Living Fossils' Arrive For Zoo

BOSTON, April 25.—(INS)—The SS Pioneer Glen came toward port today with three duck-billed platypuses on board.

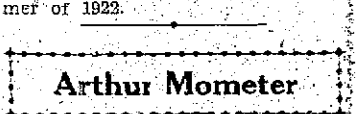

The "strange animals" are called "living fossils." They are natives of Australia and are destined for the Bronx zoo.

And they are called "living fossils" for good reason. They are furry, web-footed, duck-billed, possum-spurred, egg-laying animals. All of which indicates their ancestral growth has been stunted in spots for a few million years, more or less.

The trio arriving today are named Penelope, Betty Hutton and Cecil. The two females weigh two and two and a half pounds respectively, and are about 16 months old. Cecil is a husky two-year-old 16 inches long and tips the beam at four pounds.

These three platypuses are the only ones of the species outside their native Australia. However, the New York zoo had one specimen on display for 49 days in the summer of 1923.

Arthur Mometer

My fingers are crossed and I'm holding my breath, a wonderful just what will be and I'm watching each day for the growth of the buds that appear on the old cherry tree. Last year there were blossoms much thicker than the blossoms most covered the trees, and it looked like some fruit for a mid-summer dish that is until we get a freeze. And peaches and cherries and other small fruits were all frozen stiff; they were done, but this year it took like me might get a crop—the weather is wet, fifty-one.

Haven today stated that "I have talked the daylight savings time question over with members of council and it is our decision to keep the clocks as they now are which means that insofar as the city officially is concerned, there will be no daylight savings time."

"I feel the voters expressed their desire at the last election when daylight savings time was voted down. The city's official clocks will remain 'as is,' the mayor said.

Some institutions in the city plan to advance the day's starting and finishing time for employees, in order to have independent observance of fast time in their places of business, it is reported today.

VERNAL, Utah, April 25.—(INS)—A natural gas explosion near Vernal killed a former University of Oklahoma football star and left five oil workers injured today.

Killed in the blast yesterday at a test well 12 miles west of Vernal was Ralph Hayden Harris, 29, who captained the Oklahoma grid team in 1940.

Sheriff Herbert M. Snyder said the explosion hurled Harris into a mud pit where he suffocated before aid could reach him.

The former college star reportedly had signed a contract to play with the professional Los Angeles Dons.

Fix Heavy Bail
For Sale Of Gun

PHILADELPHIA, April 25.—(INS)—Bail was set at $20,000 today for a German-owned cut-rate drug store proprietor charged with selling a revolver to a youth accused of slaying two Philadelphia policemen.

The defendant—Max Feinberg, 30—was charged with selling the German-made weapon to William H. Hallowell, 23-year-old alleged slayer of the policemen during a running gun battle.

Police said Hallowell bought the gun from Feinberg for $25 about three months ago.

Judge Francis Shunk Brown fixed the huge bail for Feinberg, who was charged specifically with violation of the Wilkin Firearms Act and being an accessory after the fact.

Hallowell is charged with killing Police Sgt. Samuel Hewitt and Patrolman James J. Quigley when they attempted to arrest him as he drove an allegedly stolen car.

The youth is in critical condition at Germantown hospital from six bullet wounds inflicted by the dead officers during the battle.

LANDSHUT, Germany, April 25.—(INS)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, 72-year-old renowned German Zeppelin builder, revealed today that he will go to Akron, O., soon to carry on experiments with lighter-than-air craft.

Police Billet
Is Blown Up
In Palestine

JERUSALEM, April 25.—(INS)—A police billet at Sarona, east of Tel Aviv was blown up today by a "heavy" explosion and six British constables were officially reported "missing."

Rescue workers began immediately to dig into the debris for the victims.

The official announcement said the explosion was caused by two bombs. They destroyed the orderly room and the telephone exchange.

An unofficial report from Sarona said the station also was attacked by the Jewish underground.

All police stations in the vicinity were alerted against attacks.

Simultaneously five armed Jewish "underground" kidnapped Morris Collins, a British citizen, from a hotel in Tel Aviv. They released him when he informed the gang that he is a Jew.

The underground gang disconnected all the telephones in the hotel before searching the rooms on the ground floor.

Secretary Makes
Berlin Stopover
On Plane Trip

EXPECTS TO REACH
U. S. ON SATURDAY
(BULLETIN)

BERLIN, April 25.—(INS)—Secretary of State Marshall made a two-hour stopover in Berlin today enroute to the United States from Moscow.

Marshall's plane left Tempelhof Airdrome at 3:20 p. m. He had arrived at the German capital at 1:30 p. m.

At the airport he conferred with Lieut. Gen. Ludwig D. Clay, American military governor in Germany, and Maj. Gen. Frank Keating, commander of the U. S. sector of Berlin.

(Reuters reported that Marshall's plane will not halt in Paris, and if the weather permits will travel direct by way of Iceland and Newfoundland to the U. S.)

No Failure

Marshall told newsmen assembled at the airport to hear his views on the Big Four foreign ministers conference at Moscow:

"The conference was no failure, but I was disappointed because I had hoped that we would get an Austrian treaty finished."

He added:

"It would have been impossible to finish completely the German treaty, but I hoped we would agree more widely on fundamental issues."

Marshall declared:

Must Be Reconciled

"The differences of opinion between the Soviets and the western Allies must be reconciled because we don't know how long Europe can endure while we are struggling with the problem."

The secretary said there will be a short meeting of the foreign ministers in New York in September before the scheduled London conference in November.

Marshall declined to comment on reports that a western state will be set up in Germany. He noted, however, that the American and French views came closer together at Moscow.

He is scheduled to stop over briefly in Berlin before starting on the second leg of his trip. He is due to arrive in Washington late tomorrow.

Contract For
'Inch' Lines Gas

PITTSBURGH, April 25.—(INS)—Ward Perrott, president of the Equitable Gas company of Pittsburgh, today announced that contracts have been signed with the Texas Eastern Transmission company for daily delivery of 30 million cubic feet of natural gas through the "Inch" lines into Pittsburgh.

Perrott said an interim contract, effective May 1, will continue in effect until the Texas company obtains permanent possession of the "Inch" lines.

The new contract will double Equitable's present supply of 15 million cubic feet daily. Increased deliveries will begin as soon as new transmission compressor stations can be installed, Perrott said.

Suggests Relief Administrator To Supervise Program

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(INS)—Rep. Eaton (R) N. J. suggested that President Truman name a relief administrator to supervise the entire American relief program, including Greek-Turkish aid.

The chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee pointed out that Congress is now considering the appropriation of 750 million dollars for overseas relief and added that "there'll be requests for more, make no mistake about that."

Eaton said a new office should be created to handle the program, headed by a capable administrator who is not connected with the State Department.

Living Fossils
Arrive For Zoo

BOSTON, April 25.—(INS)—The SS Pioneer Glen came toward port today with three duck-billed platypuses on board.

The strange animals are called "living fossils." They are natives of Australia and are destined for the Bronx zoo.

They are called "living fossils" for good reason. They are turreted, web-footed, duck-billed, poison-spurred, egg-laying animals. All of which indicates their ancestral growth has been stunted in spots for a few million years, more or less.

The trio, arriving today, are named pelopoe, Beti, Hutton and Cecil. The two females weigh two and two and a half pounds respectively and are about 16 months old.

Cecil is a husky two-year-old 16 inches long and tips the beam at four pounds.

Arthur Mometer

My fingers are crossed and I'm holding my breath, a-wondering just what will be, and I'm watching each day for the growth of the buds that appear on the old cherry tree. Last year there were blossoms much thicker than the blossoms most covered the trees, and it looked like some fruit for a mid-summer dish; that is until we got a freeze. And peaches and cherries and other small fruits were all frozen stiff; they were done, but this year it looks like me might get a crop—the weather is wet, fifty-one.

Wallace Ready To Return To U.S.

Final Speech Abroad Made Last Night In Paris, France.

PARIS, April 25.—(INS)—Henry A. Wallace conferred with additional French leaders today before his scheduled flight to the United States tonight.

The final speech of his European tour at the Sorbonne last night was accorded only moderate interest by Paris newspapers.

Aube, organ of the middle of the road popular Republican movement, said Wallace understands that confidence must be restored between East and West. It added that he knows where he wants to go but does not know how to get there.

Humanite, organ of the Communist party, described Wallace as the "Image of civic courage representing a great country in which we place our hopes."

The rightist Ce Matin was disappointed at the vagueness of his purposes, adding:

"He is less aggressive towards his own government than a foreigner."

Wallace told an audience of six thousand at the Sorbonne, "I will continue the fight for peace."

He drew an ovation when he concluded in French:

"Long live France, long live the United Nations."

Wallace was flanked by Communist Vice Premier Maurice Thorez and Leon Jouhaux, secretary general of the French confederation of labor.

Jouhaux introduced him as "Citizen Henry Wallace, messenger of peace of the American people."

John O'Grady is the reputed builder of John O'Grady's house, whose ruins are pointed out at Duranc's Bay Head, the northernmost point of Scotland's mainland. Every year John and his seven cousins met to celebrate the memory of their ancestor. Every year they quarreled over the question of precedence, until finally John built an eight-sided, single-roomed house, with eight windows and eight doors and an octagon table in the center, so that all might enter, each at his own door, and there would be no head of the table.

Defeat Proposal For One Day Work Holiday Protest

HARRISBURG, April 25.—(INS)—A motion for a one-day work holiday in protest to proposed anti-labor legislation was defeated today by delegates attending the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council (CIO).

The motion, made by A. J. Marcus of Wilkes-Barre, International representative for the United Puritane Workers of America, was defeated by approximately two to one.

Instead, delegates adopted a resolution urging congressmen and state representatives to defeat proposed anti-labor legislation.

A resolution denouncing communism may highlight the closing session today.

answered as to whether she will abide by any future decision of the U. N. General Assembly.

The Big Five powers gave no indication of their forthcoming policies and programs on Palestine but hinted steadfast support for limiting the agenda to its present single item.

The United States government in particular became the target for outright championing of the Jewish cause, with U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie a close second in the pressure of appeals and petitions showering in upon Lake Success.

BIG FOUR COUNCIL TO RENEW PARLEY NEXT NOVEMBER left the United States that agreement on a German treaty practically was impossible, but I had hoped for an Austrian treaty.

"However, we did agree on a commission which will meet in Vienna May 12 to go into details on the 'German assets' problem."

He stated his disappointment at not getting a 40-year, four-power pact to keep Germany disarmed. He bluntly accused Russia of killing his proposal with a series of amendments which tied it to the whole German treaty question.

The foreign ministers also directed the Allied control council at Berlin to recommend by June 1 a reduction in the occupation forces in Germany to go into effect Sept. 1.

The conference, which convened March 10 and extended through 44 sessions, foundered on two main Soviet demands. These were for ten billion dollars in reparations out of current German production and a broad interpretation of "German assets" seized by the Soviets for reparations in Eastern Austria.

Among Problems

Among the problems Marshall will have to act on when he returns are these:

1. Implementing the provisions of the Greek-Turkish aid bill following its passage by Congress.

2. Obtaining congressional approval of increased aid in the American occupation zone in Korea.

3. Speeding preparations for a peace treaty for Japan.

4. Negotiating a settlement with Russia on the outstanding 11 billion 100 million loan lease bill.

Pressing objections to Yugoslavians action in removing Italian property from the international zone in Trieste and seizing Italian ships which were incapacitated in waters now held by Marshall Tito's forces.

Little Change In Telephone Strike Situation Locally

Local Plant Employees Join National Federation Pickets Here This Morning

Little change was apparent in the telephone strike situation locally today, with the exception that pickets from the Federation of Telephone Workers of Pennsylvania, which is comprised of the plant department employees, have joined with the National Telephone Workers pickets at the local exchange and plant department buildings.

The Federation of Telephone Workers announced late Thursday afternoon their decision to go on strike, which became effective at seven o'clock this morning. Previously they had been conducting continuous meetings of their union and had voted to respect the picket lines which had been established by the National Federation of Telephone Workers. As a result, they have not been at work since the telephone strike began on April 7.

It was stated by N. N. Jaquish, local manager of the Bell Telephone company, that approximately the same number of telephone operators are at work today as yesterday, and that service is being rendered on the same basis.

Summer Hours Are Announced For Stores Here

The hours remain unchanged until Memorial Day, when the stores will close one-half hour earlier than at present.

Plymouth Plant Has Strike Tieup

DETROIT, April 24.—(INS)—A Chrysler corporation spokesman today announced 3,800 Plymouth plant employees in Detroit were sent home after 158 men struck in the sheet metal department.

The walkout, according to the company representative, was staged after a union steward was given a three-day disciplinary layoff. The punishment was for allegedly fighting with an employee who refused to leave his job for the CIO labor rally yesterday.

The worker also was disciplined. The company spokesman charged the walkout was a violation of the company-union contract.

to continue the walkout of 340,000 workers until the companies grant a wage increase.

The union originally demanded a $12 a week raise but is believed prepared to compromise for $6. This would match the second-round pay boosts given by General Motors, Westinghouse and U. S. Steel to their employees.

Prospects for wage offers from the AT&T remained dim, however. Southwestern Bell notified the Labor Department that it would attend the peace parleys here, but wanted it understood that the company was not going to make any wage offers.

TWO SHARE HONORS AT SHOWER EVENT

Honoring Miss Ruth Carr, bride-elect, and Mrs. Leslie Houk, a recent bride, a group of girls gathered in the home of Mrs. J. C. Burnside, 234 Highland avenue, for a joint shower party Thursday evening.

Informality was the keynote of the early hours, a lunch being served afterward. A festive spring note accented the oblong table where guests were later invited to find places.

These were designated by individually marked daffodil nut cups and the same theme in tones of silver and yellow was further carried out in the centerpiece arrangement of garden fresh daffodils and hyacinths in a basket container. These were later distributed as mementos. Lighted yellow candles in silver holders at either side completed the setting.

Presentation of lovely shower gifts to each honoree was made by Mrs. Joseph H. Forney at the close of the evening.

The wedding date chosen is the mutual birthday anniversary of both the prospective bride and groom.

The date of the wedding was cleverly announced by means of yellow and green dillies at each place at the table. The dillies carried miniature scrolls revealing the engagement news. Yellow and green predominated in the color scheme at the table. Vases of jonquils completed the table setting.

IF BRITAIN, WHY NOT U. S.?

Britain, as all the world knows, is having a stiff battle to make economic ends meet. But if the British, faced with stupendous financial and political problems, are able to give income taxpayers some relief in the coming fiscal year it would certainly appear that the United States should be able to do the same.

We are glad that Senators Milikin and Taft have emphasized this point in commenting on the British budget announced the other day by Hugh Dalton, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

It can be argued, of course, that if British income taxes are cut even slightly it will be at the expense of American taxpayers who, not so many months ago, financed a $3,750,000,000 loan to post-war Britain. Such an argument does not state the case fairly.

Mr. Dalton has drawn up a budget which, theoretically balanced, provides for vastly increased taxes on certain items, particularly tobacco. And the plan, on paper, not only permits small income tax reductions but yields a small surplus.

There is no question, it seems to us, that American income taxes can be reduced without sacrificing any essentials. We don't believe Senator Johnson of Colorado is keeping to the point when he says that any Treasury surplus now in prospect "will be gobbled up by our new foreign policy."

The House has passed a tax reduction bill providing relief for income taxpayers. Senate Finance Committee hearings are under way. We trust Senators Taft and Milikin will keep the British example—and the rights of American taxpayers—before their colleagues.

NO MORE "SECRET" CONFERENCES

In view of the muddled situation in Europe some statesmen are suggesting that the only way to straighten things out is to arrange a heart-to-heart conference between Josef Stalin and President Truman, in an effort to untangle things so the world can really have peace again.

Some cynical observers, who remember the developments of the past few years, are expressing doubt as to whether such a meeting would be productive of much lasting benefit.

The trouble is, they say, that Stalin's heart-to-heart expressions do not seem to come from the heart. They point out what has happened since the conferences at Yalta and Potsdam. Marshal Stalin was given everything but the kitchen sink, and made very few concessions in return. Yet he seems to have backtracked on most of these, which is one reason why the world is in its present muddle.

Furthermore, we are reminded that it is "good" Communist doctrine to hold that from the Communist standpoint the end always justifies the means, and that trickery, cajolery and double-crossing, applied by a Communist to a capitalist, is perfectly legitimate diplomacy, since capitalism will have to be destroyed if communism is to live.

In view of all this, therefore, there is little wonder that a great many observers have their fingers crossed on any more conferences resembling those at Potsdam and Yalta. Even selling China down the river didn't seem to appease Stalin and induce him to play ball.

It is also true that we have, only now been apprised of all the secret agreements made at Yalta although we were assured months ago that all had been exposed to the public. What we seem to want now, therefore, is not more secret conferences probably bringing more agreements which the American public would not know about, but a clearly defined American policy, with all cards on the table, and no hesitancy on the part of our diplomats in standing up for our rights and the rights of individual freedom. That is what we need, and no more secret conferences.

One of our friends who was a champion sprinter thirty years ago says he can run harder than he did then, but not as fast.

Too often when the State legislature passes a law with teeth in it, it turns out that the teeth were only porcelain.

Our office boy says he doesn't care who tries to hold a World's Fair so long as he is permitted to hold the world's fairest.

One of our friends who went to see "The Iceman Cometh" says it is too bad Eugene O'Neill didn't have an electric refrigerator.

It is no longer possible for a wealthy and elderly clubman to drink champagne from a chorus girl's slipper. Too big a leak at the toe.

Whether you think the Chicago city election had or didn't have important national significance depends on whether you are a Republican or a Democrat.

Brave New World note: Bigger and Better Cars May Have Smaller Wheels Next Year.

State Police Say:—

Don't drink when you drive. National experience in fatal automobile accidents show that one in five drivers had been drinking. Intoxication is a matter of degree and no driver or pedestrian is at his physical best if he has indulged in intoxicating liquor. Alcohol slows down the mental processes which ordinarily enable you to react instantly to a dangerous situation. In brief, drinking causes accidents.

Washington Calling

By Marquis Childs

See Russian Plan To Isolate U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 25 — The conference of Foreign Ministers in Moscow ends in complete stalemate. We are left once again facing Soviet Russia across an abyss of distrust and suspicion.

It is, therefore, most important to try to determine the line of Soviet strategy in coming months. An examination of various sources and talks with many knowledgeable individuals of varying shades of opinion lead me to the following conclusion:

The basic line of Soviet strategy is to isolate the United States from the rest of the world. This is to be done in every possible way. Increasing propaganda from Russia and from the centers of Communism outside Russia will constantly stress the line of American imperialism and dollar diplomacy.

Fits Into Pattern
The way in which official Moscow has received the Greek-Turkish aid program fits into this pattern. The reaction has been comparatively mild and negative, which has enabled some neutral states to believe that Stalin and Molotov have been intimidated by this move from strength.

The masters of the Kremlin are convinced of the certainty of our failure in Greece. They are basing their plans on that conviction. They believe that, when we fail and finally withdraw in disgust, a Left-Wing movement in Athens must inevitably turn to Moscow for help.

If the United States blunders into a depression, the Kremlin will not be surprised. That, also, is a conviction on which Soviet policy is based. Soviet propaganda is geared to denounce "decadent capitalism," with its millions of unemployed.

The onset of a depression would make it imperative to send the products of our farms and factories into foreign markets. The Soviets would do everything they could, short of an actual shooting war, to keep us out of those markets.

Begin Barrage
Communists in western Europe have already begun a barrage against the "Truman doctrine," Jacques Duclos, regarded as the principal spokesman for Communism in the west, and one of the delegation that met Henry Wallace when he arrived in France, in a speech last week sought to identify the Truman name with "worldwide reaction." This is the key theme that he has dinned into the ears of millions.

In England, the outlines of a drive to force British foreign policy away from the United States, and toward a much closer orientation (Continued on Page Six)

The World and the Mud Puddles

THOSE NEW AUTOMOBILES

I think that everyone in the United States, at least, everyone in the cities of any size in the United States, has seen one or more of the new automobiles and have wondered whether or not he could afford to buy one of these beautiful creations. Investigating the reason for the additional price asked by the manufacturers, the buyers in the market have come to the conclusion that something has gone up in wages, high steel and other materials, have to do with the higher prices of automobiles.

Upon taking one of the leading cars and examining it closely, you will find the same engine, the same battery, the same gears—everything the same; that is, the types of all these parts are the same as they used to be. The bumpers may be a little more powerful, the hubcap or may be a little different; in fact, the car may have two car-bumpers, making it possible to have a bigger smash in the event the car gets out of control because of its excessive speed or meets with some unsurmountable object.

Extra Charge For Glamor

Looking at a car all over, a prospective buyer comes to the conclusion that the extra charge is for glamor. Probably chromium is more expensive than paint, but the manufacturers have not missed any opportunity to use this shiny metal as fast as the cars are coming off the assembly line. The massive front resembling a Chinese garden house, is crowded with chromium. The rear end, lavishly painted, has its share. The expensive hub caps gleam like the noon-day sun. There is chromium everywhere. All in all the new automobiles glitter like the tattered tights of a burlesque queen or the uniform of an old-fashioned Austrian field marshal.

As a matter of fact, the prospective buyer would like to find his favorite car very plain. He would like to find a car finished in Dupont black with mighty little chromium on it and I think the automobile manufacturers will find this out. And the prospective buyer that waits a year will find something more to his taste, both in quality, in finish and in price.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

BE HONEST WITH YOUR CHILD

With the increasing number of divorces, and desertions by fathers, I receive an increasing number of letters in which the mother wants to know if she should tell the young child that the father is not coming back. Some mothers even wish to know if they should tell the youngster that the father who lost his life in the armed forces is not alive.

Now just put yourself in the child's place. Wouldn't you eventually discover the truth? Then how would you feel? Would you not believe you had been unjustly treated by the deception? Wouldn't it be hard for you to regain confidence in your mother who had kept such facts from you so long?

What Is Involved

Something more is involved. When a mother is keeping a fact charged with so much emotion, even from a young child, all sorts of emotional forces are at work which he senses. The mother trying to hide such secrets betrays them in her voice, her breathing, her facial expression—in all sorts of ways. Something is happening inside this deceiving mother which makes her less companionable with the youngster.

The same principle is involved concerning the adopted child not told that he is adopted, even in relation to the expecting of a new baby. Any couple who adopt a child through a child placing agency are urged by the agency to tell the child of his adoption and to begin telling him as soon as he can talk or understand a little, and then to tell him again and again in all sorts of ways. Thus the facts will gradually soak into his little head and heart. The older he is when he does find out the more he will be upset, once having been deceived.

It Is Easy

It is very easy, as a rule, to tell the child early in a matter-of-fact way. I think there is no one best way to do it, though the principle involved is practically universal. I like the general tone of the way in which one mother tells of her procedure. Concerning her adopted child, three, she writes: "I have often used the expression, 'My dear adopted baby' from the time he was a few months old. I always start in about this way: 'You are our little boy because we loved you and wanted you. Of all the babies Mother and Daddy could have had, we chose you. We adopted you.'"

From Me To You

By MESEBALL

Remember this week has been set aside as World Fellowship Week... and today is United Nations Birthday... the birth took place on April 25th, 1945, so today we are celebrating the second anniversary... This day also has been designated as Annual DAY OF PRAYER for the UNO and World Peace.

"A LAYMAN'S PRAYER" was first read at the 1st UNO Anniversary ceremonies at the San Francisco Opera House on April 25th, 1946... and with your permission we will repeat it at this time:

A LAYMAN'S PRAYER
Father of all Mankind—in whose boundless fellowship—we have so richly shared—grant that we in turn—may share our treasure—of food and raiment—of ideals and institutions—of faith and fellowship—guide those in whose hands—mankind has entrusted—the design and decisions—of our earthly destiny—to the end that we may have peace—based not upon force and fear—but upon enduring universal faith and world fellowship. Amen!

In a community this size... and type... we have a lot of churches. Once marked down as being 68 in number. Our people believe... the church you attend really doesn't matter... for we all are working toward one goal. And in that many churches you find that many types of pastors... which of course gives forth to various types of preaching... We have heard many local men of the cloth and a certain kind of preaching reminds us of what an old native once said about the pastor of his church:

"He ain't so powerful smart but he keeps the fodder down low where it's kind of easy for me to nibble at it."
We can see a lot of truth in those few words... how can't you?

Hints On Etiquette

If a person to whom you have been introduced calls you by the wrong name, you may say "My name is Butte, not Barnum," but speak in a friendly, courteous manner so that no offense may be taken.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

"We have neglected to sell ourselves," states a very interesting letter that has just come to my attention.

Since the letter is not addressed to me nor has it been written for publication, I can't divulge the identity of the writer. Suffice to say that he is a well-known man in an important position.

"With the possible exception of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and perhaps one or two other Presidents," the writer comments, "no politician has ever made more than a minor contribution to the welfare of America as compared with the tremendous contributions made by the men of industry."

"The inventions of Watt, Howe, McCormick and the accomplishments of the men who created great industries based on those inventions have added immeasurably more to the health, welfare, progress and well-being of every American than anything accomplished by politician and other highly publicized characters."

"The list of such men is long. The excitement and dramatic possibilities of the life of Henry Ford, for instance, could be an inspiration to every youth of this country. 'The story of what American enterprise has accomplished in our system of private competitive business, the opportunities it has given, the tremendous contributions it has made to material welfare and, above all, to the preservation and extension of individual freedom and human happiness, has never been properly told.'

"We have the greatest production ability in the world and are the world's best salesmen, but we have neglected, unfortunately, to sell ourselves to ourselves."

"We have left the microphone to those with special axes to grind with fanciful economic notions, and to the weak, the envious and the vicious, the greedy and the selfish, whose attempts have all been to tear down and destroy."

Well, I don't think it is quite as bad as the writer charges in his last paragraph, but I do believe that we have given entirely too much publicity to the talkers rather than the doers.

Every child knows the story of our so-called statesmen and of the politicians who are adroit enough to "exploit" themselves publicly.

In every history book there are copious accounts of generals and military heroes.

But very little is said about the magnificent accomplishments of our great inventors, our industrialists, our manufacturers and business men.

"Capital" nowadays is considered an evil influence upon our lives. Yet, have you any idea how much good has been done with capital?

The Rockefeller, the Mellons, the Carnegies, the Millbanks, the Lewisohns, and hundreds of others have used their millions for the betterment of mankind. Medicine, art, literature, religion and many other branches of our spiritual and cultural life have benefited tremendously by the good deeds of those people whom we are prone to criticize as greedy and grasping.

So let us be fair. Let us judge our millionaires not so much by how they get their money but what they do with it after they get it. (Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE KIND OF MAN TO MARRY
"My family is good but has only a fair social standing and is rather low on funds. I have just worked my way through college and having thus far led a rather drab existence yearn to marry a society man. Please advise me how to proceed."

Answer: You would be wasting your time and probably blighting your life by marrying what the world generally knows as a "society man"—one who along with his parents and sisters is registered in one of the social blue books, who has a seldom-occupied desk attached to an inherited job, who constantly looks office for the country club, the golf links, the horse shows, the race every phase of daytime amusement.

Girls marrying idle men often spend their early married life helping them home from drinking bouts and their late married life wheeling them about in invalid chairs, while their mothers and sisters contribute little more than snubs and condescension.

You will gain much greater happiness from a man who has never had time to concentrate on "society"—preferably a self-made man who has worked his way through college, sought his own jobs, earned his own promotions, established his own social position among loyal, admiring friends.

A man of this type when seeking a wife will follow the dictates of his heart rather than of the women in his family and instead of wasting his earnings trying to keep up with the Grottoes he will invest them in enough life insurance to establish your future security and next to those possessions that will make your life as comfortable as it is well fortified.

Question: Should a businessman rise when a caller comes on a business mission to his office?

Answer: Yes, he should rise and remain standing until she is seated and rise when she rises to leave.

Great Game Of Politics

Problems Facing Republicans

WASHINGTON, April 25.—In stern pursuit of their vastly important fiscal program, the Republicans in Congress can remain impervious to the bureaucratic squealers and stand undamaged by the vituperative protests of their political and journalistic protectors—just so long as they do not publicly expose themselves as insincere and inconsistent.

Of course, they will be accused of these things. But that will not hurt so long as they are not true. However, if these charges of insincerity and inconsistency are convincingly presented with proof and convincingly answered with bombast, then the Republicans will be badly damaged, indeed. If that happens, it would be better if they had never used the word "economy" or mentioned "taxes," "waste" or "leak." The moment that idea seeps into the so-called public mind, all chances to reap a 1948 reward disappears.

THOUGHTFUL Republican leaders are more than a little worried about this. The danger, they say, is so clear that it should not exist. Yet it does. Obviously, the Republicans cannot embark on a great campaign to end governmental waste and restore national solvency, and at the same time publicly nullify their own efforts by initiating new ways of wasting money and keeping the budget out of balance. This would be making the American people as though they were utterly incapable of reason or understanding. It also would be convicting themselves of idiocy or hypocrisy—or both.

IT can be conceded, perhaps, that the Republicans have too much sense deliberately to play such a double game. Their danger lies more in loose leadership and lack of discipline than in evil intent. But the effect would be the same. There are two ways by which they can slip into this extremely vulnerable position almost before they know where they are. One is through affirmative action taken without reckoning the cost; the other through negative action, without being sufficiently aware to the inevitable result of inexcusable negligence on the affirmative side. There is the tendency of various Republican leaders in an effort to vaccinate against being labeled "reactionary" to develop a "social program" of their own, along housing, health and educational lines. Also there is the tendency, under pressure, to extend additional aid in the shape of bonuses, etc., to the veterans. The costs of these proposals will total hundreds of millions of dollars. The point is not raised as to their merits, though such points could be raised.

THE really important points are, first, whether the nation, at this juncture, can afford such great new expenditures, thus making it impossible to steady its tottering financial structure; second, whether, even if the proposals were all meritorious, they should not be postponed until fiscal stability had been reasonably regained; third, whether the Republican party can support such proposals at this time without indefensible inconsistency. On the negative side, it seems equally culpable for the Republicans to refrain from action that would wipe out large departmental deficits as to further plans for creating new deficits. The shaming opportunity to do the first is presented by the Post Office Department, again confronted by a large deficit and again asking to be put on a self-sustaining basis. As was pointed out in this place some weeks ago, the Post Office Department deficit next year will run between $287,000,000 and $340,000,000. This is almost as much money as Mr. Truman is asking for the support of Greece and Turkey, and which both parties are ready to unite in providing.

THERE are three obvious reasons the Republicans should meet adequately this Post Office situation. One is that it is so easy to do. It can be done without really hurting anyone. All that is needed is to conclude the 8-cent rate for first-class mail and at the same time raise the rates on second, third and fourth class mail. Not only can this be done without hardship but as a matter of justice it should have been done long ago. It would end an unjustifiable subsidy to newspapers and magazines which nearly every postmaster general for 50 years has denounced. A second reason the Republicans can take this action easily is because it is recommended by the Democratic Administration. There would really be no one to object—except the usual lobby.

MANIFESTLY, the arguments for putting the Post Office Department in position where it can operate without debt merely by cutting to carry so vast a bulk of mail below cost, are stronger now than ever before. If this thing which everybody agrees is desirable is ever to be done, clearly now is the time to do it. If, under existing circumstances, through inertia, indifference or sheer incompetency, the Republicans snuff this opportunity, their sincerity and consistency will be difficult to defend.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

Assurance that the Congress of the United States will approve President Truman's bill putting up 400 million dollars to preserve democracy in Greece and Turkey set in motion an historic departure in American foreign policy.

And it highlighted the somewhat peculiar fact that in all the time since Mr. Truman's revolutionary proposal was made, the controlled Soviet press has never turned the full force of its heavy critical artillery against the measure.

There has been some sharp-shooting. Charges of American "imperialism" have shown up now and then, and the topic was introduced by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov at one stage in the Big Four proceedings.

Reaction Mild
But in contrast to many previous occasions when the Soviet press and radio has been ordered to go "all out" for or against an international issue, the reaction to Mr. Truman's plan has been mild indeed.

A great many factors probably lie behind this comparatively mild reception.

International observers generally believe that Molotov was informed by former Secretary of State Byrnes at the Paris Peace Conference almost a year ago that American money was going to pour into the eastern Mediterranean unless Communist-inspired disorders came to an end.

Secondly, the Russians themselves have a long-standing although unexpressed request for a billion-dollar loan from the United States.

If reports are true that the Soviet Union will formalize this application and launch definite negotiations, her case would suffer by any too strenuous attacks upon an American practice of pragmatic generosity.

Seek Prestige
There is considerable reason to believe that Premier Stalin and Molotov wanted the "Big Four" meeting in Moscow for the joint purpose of international prestige and an understanding by the Western world of Russia's own shortages.

Delegates and correspondents attending the Moscow sessions have not wanted for luxuries. They have been entertained lavishly and fed exceedingly well.

Yet there is little doubt that the Soviet propaganda bureaus have inundated them with voluminous (Continued on Page Six)

EUREKA, Kan., April 25.—I hope I am wrong, but the following is a brief summary of my vision for the next five or more years whatever Russia may do. This, moreover, is based upon 40 years of forecasting experience and the expenditure of millions of dollars on business research.

(1) I am reasonably sure of at least two more years of fair business. If the U. S. adopts the right international policy, this can be extended to five years or more. Certainly, the agricultural sections out here are happy and see no reason for any business depression.

(2) My manufacturing friends are very much upset by labor's demands and that "sooner or later" we will witness a great depression with millions of unemployed. Commodity, real estate and stock prices will be much lower than at present, they claim.

(3) When visiting Washington, I find a belief that unless Russia collapses in the meantime there will then be a communistic uprising in the U. S. If our Federal government is not then taken over by the Communists, through democratic procedure, certain state and city governments certainly will be. Yes, Washington is very jittery.

(4) If these congressmen are right, a panic of tremendous proportions could take place with people leaving the big cities and seeking refuge in the self-sustaining sections of the central west. I refer to areas with their own food, fuel and housing supplies and which are not dependent on railroad transportation.

(5) If that time comes, or when the danger is fully evident, it will be too late to prepare for it. You cannot take out fire insurance on your house when it is burning! Yet today there are several ways to prepare yourself and family both against communistic uprisings from within and Russian bombs from without.

Both of these factors would dangerously affect industry in and around many large cities. The first "edge" would be to migrate with your families to some small interior city in the central area of the United States. If you don't care to do so definite a step now you can at least now make a start by reorganizing your investments. In the light of this situation there are three classifications of investments to be considered. These are safest investments, bomb targets and semi-protected investments.

Safest investments should include those companies whose assets or sources of materials are decentralized, or underground or indestructible. Among these are certain land, chemical and mining companies most of whose assets are well scattered, well buried or obtained from the sea. Also, companies processing or packing food products whose assets are in or near agricultural areas. Some lumber and sea food companies should be included in this group.

Bomb targets should include most heavy industries such as steels, locomotives, automobiles and machinery. Other companies whose principal income is derived from food distribution in large cities would be vulnerable. Utilities, including transportation, gas and electricity, electrical equipment manufacturers, large department stores, drug companies and restaurant chains would all be open to attack.

Semi-protected investments are those based upon somewhat scattered assets with at least the greater portion in "safe" areas. I have in mind such industries as the container companies, certain meat packing companies, oil companies, chain store systems, communication companies and finally publishing companies whose good will and reputation are in the same category as trademarks and cannot be "bombed" out.

Conclusion

When I am in New York City with my banking friends, I am inclined to be bullish. When in manufacturing centers with those plagued by severe labor troubles, I become bearish. When, however, I am out here at the very center of the U. S., viewing our great virgin areas of grain, forests, minerals and happy people, I am neither bearish nor bullish. I, however, do advise my readers now to get and keep out of debt. Hope for the best, but prepare for the worst.

Phone Strike Is Given Support Of Pennsylvania CIO

HARRISBURG, April 23.—(INS)—The nation's striking telephone workers were supported today by the Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council (CIO).

Eight hundred delegates attending the PUC's 10th annual convention at Harrisburg unanimously approved a resolution calling for support of the strikers.

The resolution provided that "financial aid rendered shall be processed directly by the local unions" through the PUC to the telephone organizations.

No specific amount to be collected was mentioned in the resolution. Delegates donated several hundred dollars to the National Federation of Telephone Workers defense fund.

WASHINGTON CALLING

with the USSR, are now clear. When Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin returns from Moscow, his foes within his own party will be ready to attack. They would like to drive him out of office, and conceivably he could use the pretext of his dubious health to change to a less strenuous job or "retire."

In this, however, his foes are likely to fail. Their real aim will be to force Bevin to disavow the Greek-Turkish program. They want to make the world think it is solely an American undertaking. Against the dismal background of the Moscow stalemate, Bevin will not be in a strong position.

Timing Significant

It is just here, of course, that the timing of Wallace's visit is so significant. Whether he was aware of it or not, he contributed immeasurably to the drive to isolate the United States. There is no point, it seems to me, in ignoring the harm that Wallace does when he goes abroad to talk about "American Imperialism and Dollar Diplomacy." The coincidence of a strong anti-American sentiment, and here, too, Wallace confirms the worst European suspicions of a rich and indifferent America.

While the vote in the House may not be proportionately as large as that in the Senate, the Greek-Turkish program will certainly be passed by an overwhelming majority. In the House, there are more of this frankly reactionary-isolationist Republicans and southern Democrats of the type of Sen. Kenneth McKellar and Sen. Albert W. Hawkes, who made up most of the 23 votes cast against the measure in the Senate.

It now becomes our duty to see that the money spent in Greece is used to strengthen progress and democracy "in so far as possible" through the United Nations. At the very outset, this is likely to mean a new Greek government excluding extremes of right and left and bringing in Liberals and Social Democrats.

How anyone can justify continued sniping, now that the program is assured, is difficult to see. Plainly that will only serve to underwrite Soviet strategy.

charts and reports intended to prove that Russia suffered almost unbearable losses during the war and in the drought that followed. Molotov has based his demands for reparations out of German production on the single grounds that Russia needs this money to repair the ruination the Nazis caused.

When Congress firmly commits the United States to prolonged and possibly indefinite financial participation in the recovery of Europe, the Soviets doubtless will become petitioners for sizeable aid. They apparently have decided not to jeopardize their own appeals too far in advance.

not asked where babies come from. When he does, I shall say, "The baby grows in its mother's body. But you did not grow in my body. Yet you are my child anyway and I love you as much as though you had." I do not intend to stress his other mother to him. But if he asks, I will tell him (truthfully) that I never knew her or where she lived.

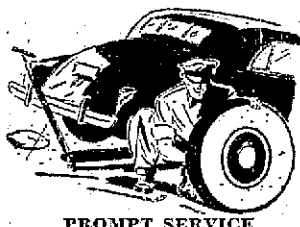

Fortunate when the whereabouts of the real mother is unknown to the adoptive parents. Most tragic it is when that mother keeps in touch with the adopted child and tugs at his heartstrings.

Youth Group Fighting Spread Of Alcoholism

By MARTHA KEARNEY

(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Lost weekends are just a waste of time to a lot of teen-agers who think their elders should know better.

That is the word today from Allied Youth, Inc., a high school kids' temperance outfit boasting between 7,000 and 8,000 posts across the United States, in Hawaii and in Canada.

Along with Alcoholics Anonymous the group received favorable comment this month from the General Federation of Women's Clubs magazine for its achievements in combating alcoholism.

Helen Kimball, spokesman for the group's capital headquarters, explained that the organization, at the request of high school boys and girls, comes to the school to present arguments against drinking by teen-agers.

She said: "While we haven't made a recent survey ourselves, other youth groups estimate that about one-half of the nation's high school boys and one-third of the girls drink either occasionally or constantly."

"We come to speak to the youngsters at their schools on invitation and supply them with statistics and material from the Yale summer school of alcohol studies for their study and consideration."

"We try to show how young people can have more real fun without alcohol than with it. If a group of boys and girls form an Allied Youth post we keep them pretty well supplied with party ideas and programs for their meetings."

The charter for each Allied Youth Post specifies that the group must be "non-sectarian, non-partisan and non-political" and that it must have a faculty member as moderator.

Members must be at least 14 years old. Each post pays a collective fee of three dollars per year to headquarters in exchange for services.

"Alcoholfax" Bulletin
These services included distribution of a bulletin called "Alcoholfax" which reprints stories and articles about alcoholism and juvenile delinquency from magazines and newspapers.

In general the articles suggest ways for young people to let off steam without drinking. They also stress the necessity for the acquisition of poise and self-control along with academic knowledge.

National headquarters, in addition, circulates a monthly magazine given over largely to stories about athletes and suggestions for post social activities.

turn down highballs or cocktails at parties.

The group quotes endorsements of its work from Willard Givens, executive secretary of the National Education Association; Commissioner John W. Studebaker of the U. S. Office of Education; Dr. Ray Loman Wilbur of Leland Stanford University and many high school principals.

The area of Japan proper including the islands of Honshu, Shikoku, Kyushu and Hokkaido, is less in size than the state of California.

Youth Group Fighting Spread Of Alcoholism

By MARTHA KEARNEY
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Last weekends are just a waste of time to a lot of teen-agers who think their elders should know better.

That is the word today from Allied Youth, Inc., a high school kids' temperance outfit boasting between 7,000 and 8,000 posts across the United States, in Hawaii and in Canada.

Along with Alcoholics Anonymous the group received favorable comment this month from the General Federation of Women's Clubs magazine for its achievements in combating alcoholism.

Helen Kimball, spokesman for the groups' capital headquarters, explained that the organization, at the request of high school boys and girls, comes to the school to present arguments against drinking by teenagers.

She said: "While we haven't made a recent survey ourselves, other youth groups estimate that about one-half of the nation's high school boys and one-third of the girls drink either occasionally or constantly."

"We come to speak to the youngsters at their schools on invitation and supply them with statistics and material from the Yale summer school of alcohol studies for their study and consideration."

"We try to show how young people can have more real fun without alcohol than with it. If a group of boys and girls form an Allied Youth post we keep them pretty well supplied with party ideas and programs for their meetings."

The charter for each Allied Youth Post specifies that the group must be "non-sectarian; non-partisan and non-political" and that it must have a faculty member as moderator. Members must be at least 14 years old. Each post pays a collective fee of three dollars per year to headquarters in exchange for services.

"Alcoholix" Bulletin
These services included distribution of a bulletin called "Alcoholix" which reprints stories and articles about alcoholism and juvenile delinquency from magazines and newspapers.

In general the articles suggest ways for young people to let off steam without drinking. They also stress the necessity for the acquisition of poise and self-control along with academic knowledge.

National headquarters, in addition, circulates a monthly magazine given over largely to stories about athletes and suggestions for post social activities.

The magazine includes frequent stories by educators telling the students that they need be neither gauche nor conspicuous because they turn down highballs or cocktails at parties.

The group quotes endorsements of its work from Willard Givens, executive secretary of the National Education Association; Commissioner John W. Studebaker, of the U. S. Office of Education; Dr. Roy Lyman Wilbur of Leland Stanford University and many high school principals.

The area of Japan proper including the islands of Honshu, Shikoku, Kyushu and Hokkaido, is less in size than the state of California.

David W. Howe Is Elected President Of American Newspaper Publishers' Association

NEW YORK, April 25.—(INS)—David W. Howe, 55, of the Burlington (Vt.) Free Press, was elected president of the American Newspaper Publishers association shortly before the sixty-first annual convention adjourned Thursday afternoon.

Others elected were:
Vice president: Edwin S. Friendly, New York Sun; treasurer: William L. Fanning, Yorkers (N.Y.) Herald Statesman; secretary: J. L. Stackhouse, Easton (Pa.) Express.
The convention will hold its next meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York on the fourth Thursday in April, 1948.

Thursday's session of the convention was held behind closed doors. The principal topic discussed at the final session was labor relations. The principal committee report read at Thursday's session emphasized that newspapers of the United States are geared to bargain with their employees on a local, rather than an industry-wide basis.

Cranston Williams, general manager of ANPA, reported that the membership, as of today, is 763. There are about 1,750 daily newspapers in the United States. Some papers sent several representatives to the convention.

The 763 members, according to Williams, publish newspapers that have 90 per cent of the daily circulation in America. At this year's convention, he said, a total of 1,143 registered and obtained credentials for admission to the three-day sessions.

Many of the editors, publishers and newspaper executives who have been in New York all week prepared to leave for their homes following the formal adjournment of the convention.

Old City Ordinances Revive Some Memories

Time was when one who expected, on a public sidewalk was hauled before His Honor, the Mayor, and upon conviction was fined anywhere from $1 to $10. An ordinance to this effect was passed August 12, 1907.

According to the ordinance which never was repealed, it says that "it is forbidden to expectorate, spit or vomit upon any of the public sidewalks or paved footways".

No doubt this ordinance was caused by health reason, plus the fact that milady wore long dresses that almost swept the sidewalks, and incidentally the skirts are getting longer nowadays according to milady's style sheet.

Another Ancient One
Another ancient ordinance, one of the forerunners to the present day "parking ordinance", adopted January 30, 1897, calls for "every person in charge of a wagon, dray, hack or other vehicle, shall place his horse or horses, etc., close to the curb."

"But none of the said vehicles shall be placed in front of any house or any store" the ordinance adds. However, this ordinance was passed in the days when autos were lacking here and when city was not built up at it now is.

Downspout Ordinance
Passed March 21, 1905, was an ordinance, which yet is effective and applies to downspouts. It forbids the conducting of roof or other water flowing upon or across sidewalks, foot-walks or pavements. The ordinance calls for the construction of downspouts, to prevent water freezing.

Another ancient ordinance tells of the laying out of the public square. The plot was recorded in the county of Mercer, in which New Castle then resided, April 4, 1810. The plot was laid out by John C. Stewart.

Stay Off Grass
Fifty dollars could be imposed as fine upon anyone who walked across a park plot of grass in 1895, an ordinance of that vintage declaring that in lieu of the fine the person convicted could be sentenced to spend 48 hours in jail.

Apparently the fathers of New Castle, September 27, 1892, were cognizant of loafing, because an ordinance of that date made subject to arrest anyone who obstructed or interfered with travel upon any foot-way or sidewalk.

The ordinance prohibited the blockading of passages to any church, hall or place. Lounging and loitering or loafing therein called for arrest. Some years ago police were required to make persons move from doorways and if they must stand, stand on the curb.

Britain To Keep Pledges In Europe

CINCINNATI, O., April 25—(INS)—Lord Inverchapel, British ambassador, declared that despite Britain's grim economic situation the United Kingdom will make good its commitments in Germany and the countries of western Europe.

The ambassador said it would be a grave mistake to assume from the British withdrawal in Greece "that we are getting rid of all our foreign commitments."

He explained that aid to Greece imposed a heavy burden and "ultimately...in view of our problems at home and the costs of our other obligations abroad, we could no longer undertake to bolster her up."

The ambassador pointed out, in an address before the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, "we are going shares with you in Germany, and we are continuing to help the countries of western Europe."

Inverchapel said that Britain has contributed well over a billion dollars in direct relief to war-torn countries and almost two billion dollars in loans and credits.

Repair Tire Chains Now For Next Winter

HARRISBURG, April 24.—The careful motorist will make all necessary repairs to his tire chains at the end of the winter driving season, and the careless motorist will follow his example, if he wishes to avoid trouble when snow and ice make driving hazardous next winter, according to a warning issued from state police headquarters.

"Too many drivers throw their worn chains in the back of the car with no thought of having them repaired and ready for next season," said Colonel C. M. Wilhelm, state police commissioner. "While it is true that we may not have more snow or ice until next season, the wise driver will have his chains repaired now, making certain all bad cross chains and other worn parts are replaced so that he will be ready for the first, and usually unexpected, storm next winter."

Planting Trees On Strip Mine Land In Mercer County

Another experimental planting of seedlings on strip mine spoil banks has been completed by Glenn H. Deitschmann, research forester from Penn State college.

Deitschmann planted about 400 trees on the Richardson farm, 8½ miles south of Mercer on the Leesburg-Grove City road. He said it took about 30 seconds to plant each seedling.

The property formerly was worked by the Buckeye Coal Co., a subsidiary of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co.

Several thousand trees were planted by Penn State college representatives on the Lola McGee farm near Slippery Rock.

Before 1890 water-color painting was considered unimportant and used almost entirely in young women's finishing schools.

We love 'em in December as we do in May

REMEMBER the day you first romped away in that Buick of yours? How those eight Fireball cylinders fairly floated you over the hills—how those road-steady two tons of lively car answered sweetly every light touch of your hand on the wheel—how you glided along with foursquare BuCoil springing smoothing every wrinkle in the road?

That's what your Buick was built to do. Years and years of that kind of driving are in it—especially when it gets the interested, informed car care this fine an automobile should have.

That doesn't mean just periodic lubrication, a body wash, battery check or bolt-tighten. It means thorough attention by competent Buick men—attention that keeps a Buick always a Buick.

Buicks are our babies. Even the smallest details are handled the way they should be for a Buick. We have Buick tools that do jobs better and quicker. We have men who know Buicks best. We have Buick-engineered parts that are precisely right for your car.

Put that all together and it's Buick car care.

Pretty clear, isn't it, that here is where your Buick will receive the best attention? After all, we love 'em heart and soul.

"TOP" SECRET

One of the things that play a part in Fireball snap is Buick's water-thin steel cylinder gasket. Just 15 thousandths of an inch thick, it's a "must" for the high compression this powerful straight-eight is designed for. Other kinds that are thicker cut down the compression and the car's liveliness.

In carbon and valve jobs, or any other where this gasket must be replaced, only this Buick gasket will assure the fit Buick engineers intended. No wise Buick owner would have any other in his engine.

Just another example of how you get more for your money—in major adjustments, tune-ups, lubrication or anything your car needs—when you make sure it gets Buick car care.

Old City Ordinances Revive Some Memories

Time was when one who expected, on a public sidewalk was hauled before His Honor, the Mayor, and upon conviction was fined anywhere from $1 to $10. An ordinance to this effect was passed August 12, 1907.

According to the ordinance which never was repealed, it says that "it is forbidden to expectorate, spit or vomit upon any of the public sidewalks or paved footways".

No doubt this ordinance was caused by health reason, plus the fact that milady were long dresses that almost swept the sidewalks, and incidentally the skirts are getting longer nowadays according to milady's style sheet.

Another ancient ordinance, one of the forerunners to the present day "parking ordinance", adopted January 30, 1897, calls for "every person in charge of a wagon, dray, hack or other vehicle, shall place his horse or horses, etc., close to the curb."

"But none of the said vehicles shall be placed in front of any house or any store" the ordinance adds. However, this ordinance was passed in the days when autos were lacking here and when city was not built up at it now is.

Downspout Ordinance
Passed March 21, 1905, was an ordinance, which yet is effective and applies to downspouts. It forbids the conducting of roof or other water flowing upon or across sidewalks, foot-walks or pavements. The ordinance calls for the construction of downspouts, to prevent water freezing.

Another ancient ordinance tells of the laying out of the public square. The plot was recorded in the county of Mercer, in which New Castle then resided. April 4, 1810. The plot was laid out by John C. Stewart.

Stay Off Grass
Fifty dollars could be imposed as fine upon anyone who walked across a park plot of grass in 1888, an ordinance of that vintage declaring that in lieu of the fine the person convicted could be sentenced to spend 48 hours in jail.

Apparently the fathers of New Castle, September 27, 1892, were cognizant of loitering, because an ordinance of that date made subject to arrest anyone who obstructed or interfered with travel upon any foot-way or sidewalk.

The ordinance prohibited the

Britain To Keep Pledges In Europe

CINCINNATI, O., April 25.—(INS)—Lord Inverchapel, British ambassador, declared that despite Britain's grim economic situation the United Kingdom will make good its commitments in Germany and the countries of western Europe.

The ambassador said it would be a grave mistake to assume from the British withdrawal in Greece "that we are getting rid of all our foreign commitments."

He explained that aid to Greece imposed a heavy burden and "ultimately...in view of our problems at home and the costs of our other obligations abroad, we could no longer undertake to bolster her up."

The ambassador pointed out, in an address before the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, "we are going shares with you in Germany, and we are continuing to help the countries of western Europe."

Inverchapel said that Britain has contributed well over a billion dollars in direct relief to war-torn countries and almost two billion dollars in loans and credits.

Repair Tire Chains Now For Next Winter

HARRISBURG, April 24.—The careful motorist will make all necessary repairs to his tire chains at the end of the winter driving season, and the careless motorist will follow his example, if he wishes to avoid trouble during snow and ice make driving hazardous next winter, according to a warning issued from state police headquarters.

Planting Trees On Strip Mine Land In Mercer County

Another experimental planting of seedlings on strip mine spoil banks has been completed by Glenn H. Deitschmann, research forester from Penn State college.

Deitschmann planted about 400 trees on the Richardson farm, 8 1/2 miles south of Mercer on the Leesburg-Crook City road. He said it took about 30 seconds to plant each seedling.

The property formerly was worked by the Buckeye Coal Co., a subsidiary of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co.

Several thousand trees were planted by Penn State college representatives on the Lola McGee farm near Slippery Rock.

Before 1896 water-color painting was considered unimportant and used almost entirely in young women's finishing schools.

An audience estimated at 1,200 people attended the third night of the Indoor Camp Meeting in progress at The Arena, on Grove street, Thursday evening.

The singing of the Cleveland Colored Quintet was the outstanding feature of the service. Mrs. J. R. Parker, wife of one of the quietest members, was heard in a solo role.

Floyd Lacey, director of the group, directed the evening congregational singing.

Rev. L. S. Hoover continued his series of business messages emphasizing the necessity of holy living.

The series will continue each afternoon this week at 2:30 o'clock and each evening at 7:30 o'clock. Next Monday evening, the closing night of the campaign, has been announced as quietest night, when an all-musical program will be featured.

PHILADELPHIA, April 25—(INS)—The American Youth for Democracy has been stripped of recognition by Temple University as a campus organization.

A university committee took the action because it declared the group was Communist-directed and had misrepresented its aims.

The committee added, however: "The committee believes that many members of the Temple chapter of the AYD were acting in good faith for democratic ends. In many instances, they were probably unaware of the Communist sponsorship and directorship."

A manis is the ordinary name of the scaled anteater who lives in the tropical parts of Asia and Africa. Its legs are short and strong, and the feet are armed with powerful claws with which it burrows after ants which are its exclusive diet. A manis is able to roll itself into a ball which a man's strength cannot open. The largest species live upon the west coast of Africa and reach a length of six feet, including the tail.

State Democrats Seem For Truman

Top Democratic Leaders Appear To Supporters Of President In 1948

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, April 25.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's top Democratic chiefs were expected to expend every effort during the next 19 months to strengthen their organization for the 1948 presidential election. Many leaders admit that it will be a "tough job" to bolster their strength, especially since the Republican landslide in the Keystone state last November. Mayor David L. Lawrence, of Pittsburgh, national committeeman and former state chairman, was expected to be the chief spokesman "calling the shots" in the campaign. Lawrence has been in the driver's seat since the defeat of former U. S. Sen. Joseph P. Guffy five months ago. Some Guffy men hold key spots in the organization.

President Truman has appeared to be the leading candidate of Pennsylvania Democrats for the 1948 presidential nomination. There were indications that a few leaders favored former Vice President Henry A. Wallace but not much sentiment has developed for any one but Truman. One of the early supporters of Truman in Pennsylvania was Allegheny County Commissioner John J. Kane, of Pittsburgh.

The 1947 session of the General Assembly has attracted the usual number of lobbyists or, as they are jokingly known, "legislative engineers." . . . in many cases, lobbyists are of help to legislators because of their knowledge of the workings of the firms or groups they represent. Lobbyists are not permitted on the floor of the House or Senate. Many of them conduct their business in Harrisburg hotels although many others may be seen at the State Capitol buttonholing lawmakers in corridors or ante rooms.

Some assemblymen have predicted that Pennsylvania's 70-member delegation to the Republican National Convention in 1948 may be the deciding factor in selecting a G.O.P. presidential nominee. The delegation was expected to cast its votes in the initial balloting for a "favorite son," U. S. Sen. Edward Martin. Some leaders have claimed that the state's delegation would play a "highly important" role at the convention. Supporters of candidates were expected to make every effort to win the votes of the Keystone state's delegates. The convention city has not been chosen and a group of Philadelphians have begun a movement to have it held in the Quaker City.

Gov. James H. Duff, like previous chief executives, is protected by ever-alert Pennsylvania State policemen. Whenever Duff appears at a meeting on Capitol Hill or elsewhere, State troopers in uniform and plain clothes are in the audience keeping lookout for anything which might jeopardize the safety of the governor. Movements of visitors to the governor's suite of offices in the main Capitol building are observed by troopers who also accompany the chief executive on tours. Commissioner C. M. Wilhelm, of Harrisburg, is the only member of the original force organized more than 40 years ago still on active duty.

This is the season of the year when thousands of Pennsylvania High school students visit the State Capitol to learn of the workings of the Commonwealth's government. During the past few weeks, scores of students have visited the State House, many of them guests of their senator or representative. It is not unusual these days to see long lines of boys and girls following a guide through the long corridors of the main Capitol building as he explains the designs in the tiled floors and the fine paintings on the upper walls. Both speaker of the House Franklin H. Lichtenwalter and Lt. Gov. Daniel B. Strickler usually note from the chair the appearance of the students in the House and Senate. The students usually are asked to rise at their seats and are applauded by lawmakers.

Buyers Seeking Smaller Farms

WOOSTER, O., April 25.—(INS)—Small farms are apparently the most popular with prospective new owners. R. C. Headington, Ohio Agriculture Experiment Station Economist, reports that average prices of farms of less than 100 acres rose last year while farms of more than 100 acres were declining in price. Headington used a three-county sample as a basis for his report. He found the average large tract declined seasonally after March 1946. A similar decline was not found in small farm land. Since the trends did not counter-balance, the general index price of Ohio farm land may reach a new peak this spring, probably just below the all-time peak that followed World War I.

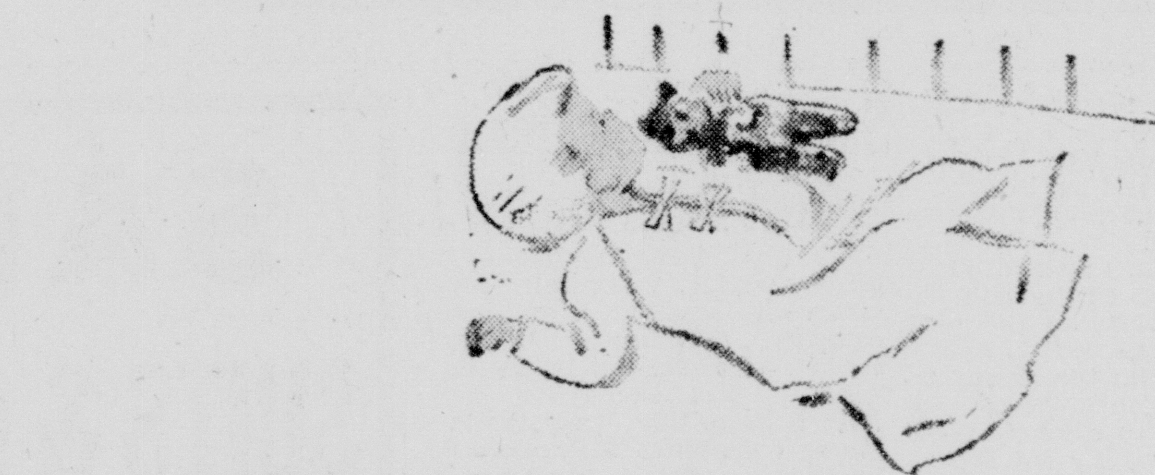

Lone Survivor Of Auto Crash Improves

GROVE CITY, April 25.—Now fully conscious, Kenneth Nelson, 23, the Meadville High school teacher who alone survived a head-on collision of two autos that killed six persons, is expected to recover but his doctors still hold little hope that he will be able to remember the accident in which he was injured. Nelson continues to show improvement at O'Leary's hospital in Grove City and his condition now is regarded as fair. He suffered a broken leg, fractured skull and internal injuries. According to his doctors, Nelson can remember nothing of the high-way accident, the worst in the county in five years.

More Towns Join Price Reduction March In Nation

HAMTRAMCK, Mich., April 25.—Hamtramck and Osego, Mich., joined the march of "Newburyport plan" followers by adopting programs for ten per cent reduction of wholesale and retail prices. The Hamtramck common council unanimously passed a resolution calling for immediate price cuts for its 49,800 residents. The police department will deliver pledge cards to all dealers next week and all those who sign will be given placards announcing the price cuts. A similar plan, affecting all items except those governed by manufacturers' price under the Fair Trades Practices Act, went into effect in Osego, Mich. The city officials reported Osego merchants are giving the plan 100 per cent cooperation. In Detroit, reports from small merchants show voluntary cuts ranging from 10 to 15 per cent. The Board of Commerce reports, however, that "there is no general or concerted move contemplated." Councilman Stanley Frankowski who introduced the Hamtramck plan was asked how the resolution would affect the Dodge main plant—the city's largest industry. He replied: "Let them cut the price of their cars and other manufacturers will have to. We will get to someone in the company to sign a card or refuse to sign a card." Oil shale found in Sweden contains 220 grams of atomically-usable uranium oxide per ton.

HEADS MUSIC EDUCATORS—SCRANTON, Pa., April 25.—(INS)—Sister M. St. Claire of Pittsburgh has been re-elected executive secretary of the National Catholic Music Educators Conference. Also re-elected for two-year terms at a meeting in Scranton were Mother M. Cyrenia, recording secretary; Sister Regina Dolores, treasurer, and Rev. Edward M. Reilly, treasurer. The three are from Philadelphia.

Top Democratic Leaders Appear To Supporters Of President In 1948

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, April 25.—(INS)

—Pennsylvania's top Democratic chieftains were expected to expend every effort during the next 10 months to strengthen the organization for the 1948 presidential election. Many leaders admit that it will be a "tough job" to bolster their strength, especially since the Republican landslide in the Keystone state last November. Mayor David L. Lawrence, of Pittsburgh, national committeeman and former state chairman, was expected to be the chief spokesman "calling the shots" in the campaign. Lawrence has been in the driver's seat since the defeat of former U. S. Sen. Joseph P. Guffy five months ago. Some Guffy men hold key spots in the organization.

President Truman has appeared to be the leading candidate of Pennsylvania Democrats for the 1948 presidential nomination. There were indications that a few leaders favored former Vice President Henry A. Wallace but not much sentiment has developed for any one but Truman. One of the early supporters of Truman in Pennsylvania was Allegheny County Commissioner John J. Kane, of Pittsburgh.

The 1947 session of the General Assembly has attracted the usual number of lobbyists or, as they are jokingly known, "legislative engineers." In many cases, lobbyists can be of help to legislators because of their knowledge of the workings of the firms or groups they represent. Lobbyists are not permitted on the floor of the House or Senate. Many of them conduct their business in Harrisburg hotels although many others may be seen at the State Capitol buttonholing lawmakers in corridors or ante rooms.

Some assemblymen have predicted that Pennsylvania's 70-member delegation to the Republican National Convention in 1948 may be the deciding factor in selecting a G.O.P. presidential nominee. The delegation was expected to cast its votes in the initial balloting for a "favorite son," U. S. Sen. Edward Martin. Some leaders have claimed that the state's delegation would play a "highly important" role at the convention. Supporters of candidates were expected to make every effort to win the votes of the Keystone state's delegates. The convention city has not been chosen and a group of Philadelphians have begun a movement to have it held in the Quaker City.

Gov. James H. Duff, like previous chief executives, is protected by over 100 Pennsylvania State policemen. Whenever he appears at a meeting on Capitol Hill or elsewhere, State troopers in uniform and plain clothes are in the audience keeping lookout for anything which might jeopardize the safety of the governor. Movements of visitors to the governor's suite of offices in the main Capitol building are observed by troopers who also accompany the chief executive on tours. Commissioner C. M. Wilhelm, of Harrisburg, is the only member of the original force organized more than 40 years ago still on active duty.

This is the season of the year when thousands of Pennsylvania High school students visit the State Capitol to learn of the workings of the Commonwealth's government. During the past few weeks, scores of students have visited the State House, many of them guests of their senator or representative. It is not unusual these days to see long lines of boys and girls following a guide through the long corridors of the main Capitol building as he explains the designs in the tiled floors and the fine paintings on the upper walls. Both speaker of the House Franklin H. Lichtenwalter and Lt. Gov. Daniel B. Strickler usually note from the chair the appearance of the students in the House and Senate. The students usually are asked to rise at their seats and are applauded by lawmakers.

Buyers Seeking Smaller Farms

WOOSTER, O., April 25.—(INS)—Small farms are apparently the most popular with prospective new owners.

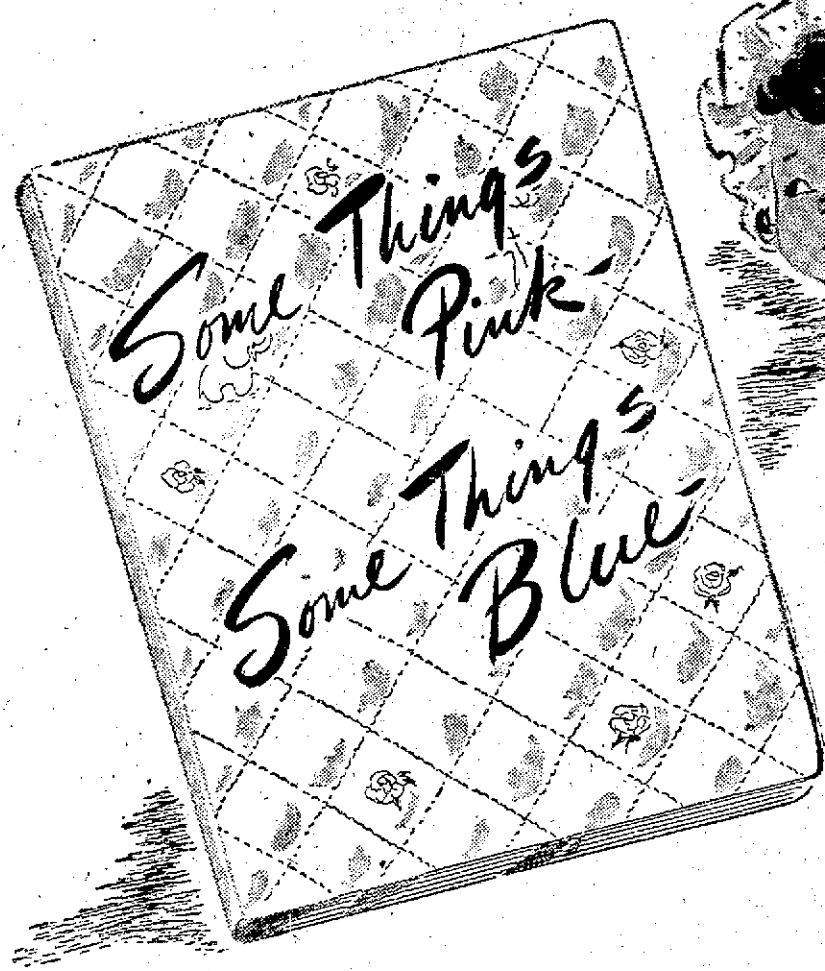

R. C. Headington, Ohio Agriculture Experiment Station Economist, reports that average prices of farms of less than 100 acres rose last year while farms of more than 100 acres were declining in price.

Headington used a three-county sample as a basis for his report. He found the average large tract declined seasonally after March 1946. A similar decline was not found in small farm land. Since the trends did not counter-balance, the general index price of Ohio farm land may reach a new peak this spring, probably just below the all-time peak that followed World War I.

Lone Survivor Of Auto Crash Improves

GROVE CITY, April 25.—Now fully conscious, Kenneth Nelson, 23, the Meadville High school teacher who alone survived a head-on collision of two autos that killed six persons, is expected to recover but his doctors still hold little hope that he will be able to remember the accident in which he was injured.

Nelson continues to show improvement at Osteopathic hospital in Grove City and his condition now is regarded as fair. He suffered a broken leg, fractured skull and internal injuries. According to his doctors, Nelson can remember nothing of the highway accident, the worst in the county in five years.

In Detroit, reports from small merchants show voluntary cuts ranging from 10 to 15 per cent. The Board of Commerce reports, however, that "there is no general or concerted move contemplated."

Councilman Stanley Frankowski who introduced the Hamtramck plan was asked how the resolution would affect the Dodge main plant—the city's largest industry. He replied:

"Let them cut the price of their cars and other manufacturers will have to. We will get to someone in the company to sign a card or refuse to sign a card."

Reporter Finds Russians Living In High Style In Occupancy Of German Zone

By GEORGE W. HERALD
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, April 25.—Soviet occupation troops in Germany live largely on the fat of the land.

They have requisitioned the best houses in every town without paying any rent for them, and officers drive German-made cars. Before Soviet authorities split up the Prussian Junker holdings, they took the most valuable items on the properties for themselves. They confiscated machines and livestock and placed these on new farms under Russian management which now supplies the troops and their dependents with food.

The Russians eat well for very little money. They seem to have plenty of butter, eggs, sausage, bread and potatoes for their daily fare. However, on our trip we never had a dessert with a meal, and as far as we could make out, they considered sweets incompatible with Soviet virility.

No real coffee or tea was served on the whole journey but there were always enough beer, schnapps and German liqueurs around to quench everyone's thirst. The schnapps was drawn from German potatoes, and the Germans complained that the Russians used even precious seed potatoes for the production of the beverage.

Separate Lives

In principle, the Russians live completely separate lives from the Germans. They have their own movies and clubs. They never invite Germans to their houses, and Russian dependents' children do not play with German children.

Praternization between Russian soldiers and German girls is not expressly forbidden. Soviet officers do not mind too much if a soldier associates with a German girl and get alarmed only if he falls in love with her. This is inadmissible to official Soviet eyes.

Soviet soldiers look spruced-up around garrison headquarters but the farther away you get from the Kommandantura, the dirtier they become. On the roads and in the villages we saw enlisted men whose tunics were soiled all over and who obviously had not washed for days.

Most of the troops are now very young boys between 18 and 19. Their sense of private property appears undeveloped as they think nothing of stopping a man or a woman in the street and taking away their bicycle. Or they enter German homes with drawn pistols which are not always loaded and remove what they like in front of the terrified inhabitants.

Little can be done about such incidents. If the soldiers are caught by Soviet military police, they are severely punished, but most of the time they get away unmolested.

Russian authorities claim, of course, that the offenders are in most cases not members of the Soviet army but either deserters, or Germans and DPS disguised in Russian uniforms.

Most of the commissioned Russian officers we met impressed us favorably. They seemed to be serious and competent men who were devoted to their duty and did not indulge in excesses.

Moscow's secret police operates discreetly but effectively everywhere in the zone. It consists of plainclothesmen, most of whom speak German fluently.

A policeman on the island of Reugen with whom we walked thru the streets pointed out several Russians to us who mingled inconspicuously with the crowd. In past times this would have been impossible, because everyone used to know everybody else in the small towns.

Now as thousands of newcomers from the east have arrived, people don't know their neighbors any longer and spying has become easy. One German claimed that all arrestees whose interrogation produces no satisfactory results are turned over to military government authorities in Schwerin and put in the internment camp at Fuenfeichen near Neu-Brandenburg.

Russian occupation methods often appeared in contradiction with the professed official Soviet policy of understanding and rehabilitation. We came back with the impression that most Russian military men rule Germany with a heavy hand, just like victor usually did in history after a bitter and bloody war.

The roseate spoonbill, the only American species, is nearly three feet in length. It is a beautiful bird with rosecolor plumage, the deepest tint being on the wings; the tail coverts are carmine. It was once abundant in Florida but is now rare there, but seen along the coast of Texas. It nests in colonies, and builds a coarse platform of sticks, in trees, in which it lays three eggs, white spotted with brown.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, April 25.—(INS) Dainty June Haver expects she and Jimmy Zito will have lots of time for a real honeymoon this summer. She was busy in "Scudda Hoo, Scudda Hay" at 20th Century-Fox when they eloped to Las Vegas, Nev., eight week ago. The studio could allow her only five days off. Acting like the happiest girl in the world, June told your reporter that as far as she knows the studio has nothing planned for her for several months after she completes her current assignment.

She beamed and said: "We're going to do a lot of traveling and have a lot of fun when Jimmy isn't busy with his band. We want to visit Chicago as soon as we can. I haven't met his folks yet. I'm looking forward to that." "While we're in Chicago, of course we'll go over to my home town, Rock Island."

Some Time In Colorado
They also plan to spend some time in Colorado, near Denver, June explained: "It's the most beautiful spot in the world. We plan to do a lot of horseback riding. That's Jimmy's hobby."

But, June said she's won him over to a second hobby. "Painting has become my real hobby, so I said to Jimmy that he ought to have some similar hobby so he'd have something to do while I was painting."

"He said he'd like to do some sculpturing or wood carving, or something like that. The other day I bought him a set of books on those kindred subjects."

"For his birthday, on May 12, I'm going to give him a set of tools."

Like any prospective bride might do, June took up cake baking a couple of months before her marriage.

"Jimmy proved that he could take it," June said. "One evening I was making a cake with a very special kind of icing which needs careful preparation."

"While I was in the midst of making the icing, Jimmy called up to tell me he was coming over later. I got engrossed in our conversation and left the icing at a bad stage."

"When he arrived I cut him a slice of the cake. He ate it without a murmur. I tried it myself later. The icing was just like cement. I don't know how he swallowed it."

TURN ABOUT FAIR
PLAY UNDER NEW
DAMAGE SUIT LAW

PITTSBURGH, April 25.—(INS) —It's just a case of "turn about's fair play", as far as the government is concerned.

Under the new law by which you can sue the government without its permission, Louis Peach of Pittsburgh filed a $412 damage suit against Uncle Sam as the outgrowth of a collision of his automobile with a mail truck, Feb. 28. He charged the truck driver with negligence.

Yesterday, U. S. District Attorney Charles F. Uhl sued Peach, asking $108 for damage to the mail truck and claiming the negligence was on the part of Peach, not the truck driver.

HOLLYWOOD, April 25.—(INS). Dainty June Haver expects she and Jimmy Zito will have lots of time for a real honeymoon this summer. She was busy in "Scudda Hoo, Scudda Hay" at 20th Century-Fox when they eloped to Las Vegas, Nev., eight weeks ago. The studio could allow her only five days off. Acting like the happiest girl in the world, June told your reporter that as far as she knows the studio has nothing planned for her for several months after she completes her current assignment.

She beamed and said: "We're going to do a lot of traveling and have a lot of fun when Jimmy isn't busy with his band. We want to visit Chicago as soon as we can. I haven't met his folks yet. I'm looking forward to that. "While we're in Chicago, of course we'll go over to my home town, Rock Island." Some Time In Colorado They also plan to spend some time in Colorado, near Denver, June explained. "It's the most beautiful spot in

But, June said she's won him over to a second hobby. "Painting has become my real hobby, so I said to Jimmy that he ought to have some similar hobby so he'd have something to do while I was painting. "He said he'd like to do some sculpturing or wood carving, or something like that. The other day I bought him a set of books on those kindred subjects. "For his birthday, on May 12, I'm going to give him a set of tools." Like any prospective bride might do, June took up cake baking a couple of months before her marriage. "Jimmy proved that he could take it," June said. "One evening I was making a cake with a very special kind of icing which needs careful preparation. "While I was in the midst of making the icing, Jimmy called up to tell me he was coming over later. I got engrossed in our conversation and left the icing at a bad stage. "When he arrived I cut him a slice of the cake. He ate it without a murmur. I tried it myself later. The icing was just like cement. I don't know how he swallowed it."

TURN ABOUT FAIR

DAMAGE SUIT LAW

PITTSBURGH, April 25.—(INS).—It's just a case of "turn about's fair play," as far as the government is concerned. Under the new law by which you can sue the government without its permission, Louis Peach of Pittsburgh filed a $412 damage suit against Uncle Sam as the outgrowth of a collision of his automobile with a mail truck, Feb. 28. He charged the truck driver with negligence.

Yesterday, U. S. District Attorney Charles F. Uhl sued Peach, asking $108 for damage to the mail truck and claiming the negligence was on the part of Peach, not the truck driver.

Frisbee Scores As Detective

Deputy Sheriff Runs Down
Suspicious And Finds
Radio Was Stolen

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

There was a time when Deputy Sheriff James Frisbee was a motor mechanic—and a good one—but some years ago he gave that business up for the business of dispensing justice as a justice of the peace in Shenango township. When Sheriff Frank L. Coen took office he appointed Mr. Frisbee as a deputy. Now it appears that Frisbee has added something new to his many attributes, that of crime detection. The first victim of his crystal ball gazing resulted in a prisoner in the county jail being turned over to Payette county authorities to answer to a charge of burglary.

The prisoner, Less Sigers, who claimed Pittsburgh as his home, was put into the county jail for 10 days by railroad police. When he was admitted, he had with him a sack of personal belongings. Among other things he had a brand new radio receiving set from which the cord had not been unwrapped.

Frisbee asked Sigers where he got the radio and the man said he had purchased it in Cleveland. Frisbee didn't believe the story and wrote to the manufacturer giving the serial number, and asked where that particular radio had been shipped. The manufacturer said it had been shipped to a jobber in Pittsburgh and the jobber said it had been sold to a dealer in a small town nearby. The dealer was inquired of and replied that the radio had been stolen from his store.

The State police were called into the case and after some investigation found that the number of falls in which Sigers had done time and the places he was wanted, filled three pages.

THIRTY IN COUNTY JAIL

The population of the county jail is larger at present than at any time in the past five years. There are 30 prisoners, including two women.

Seek Women In Farmer's Death

PAINESVILLE, O., April 25.—Lake county and Cleveland authorities are seeking two Cleveland women in an attempt to uncover clues to the slaying of Anton Heinemann, 65-year-old farmer, at his home in Perry township. The women had corresponded with Heinemann. Found in the water-filled basement of his ransacked home, Heinemann's throat was slashed and nine wounds about the head indicated he also had been shot, Lake County Prosecutor Lester W. Donaldson reported.

Robbery was the obvious motive for the murder, said Donaldson, adding that deputies also were searching for a china teapot, reported missing from the reclus's home, which they believed contained a considerable sum of money.

The victim, twice a widower, lived alone but had corresponded with several women, the prosecutor said. Letters from the Cleveland women and a woman in Detroit were found in the farmer's home.

The old tale of the tree in Madagascar which devoured human beings, later was pronounced pure myth.

Dr. T. Z. Koo Speaks At YMCA Drive Opening

Chinese Educator Gives Inspiring Message At Association Thursday

Persons connected with the World Youth Fund Campaign in the city came away from their kick-off dinner Thursday evening in the "Y" with a much fuller understanding of their task and the importance of their mission.

The team workers, their captains and other officials of the local effort were inspired by a talk given by Dr. T. Z. Koo, widely-known Chinese educator and lecturer, whose hard-hitting message, eloquently delivered, launched the campaign in New Castle.

Speaks of China

Dr. Koo used the backdrop of his native China to bring out his message to the audience. Sketching the history of his nation and dwelling on its current plight, the speaker gave much credit to the "Y" movement for perpetuating the Christian way of life among his people.

"Missionary work in China had done admirable work," he said, "but was unable to reach the 'educated' class of the country until the Y. M. C. A. sent delegates to work with the students. Until then fine strides had been made with the other classes, the mechanics, farmers and merchants, but great impetus was gained with the arrival and efforts of the 'Y' staffers.

Tells of Need

China, said Dr. Koo, is no different from other war-torn countries needing the rebirth of the movement. The war was such a setback, both materially and spiritually to all Christian institutions in these lands that it will take ceaseless work and adequate funds to restore the ideals of Christianity and rebuild destroyed buildings, he stated.

Dr. Koo also spoke Thursday afternoon, where a talk to the students of Union high school was heartily received.

Other speakers at the dinner include Joel S. McKee, general chairman of the drive, who spoke briefly on the aims of the campaign, and J. Clyde Gillilan, chairman of the executive committee, who sketched the goal of the city. It is hoped to raise $9,600 here under the sponsorship of the two Y.M.C.A. branches.

John Boyles Presided

John P. Boyles, president of the executive board, presided at the dinner and called the meeting to order. Invocation was pronounced by Dr. Burr R. McKnight, while Sam Lewis led the guests in the singing of "America," with Emil Branstetter at the piano.

Following the dinner and the speaking program, prospectus cards were issued to the workers.

Attlee Assails

Winston Churchill

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, April 25—(INS)—British Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee bitterly assailed Winston Churchill today as "Britain's most disastrous chancellor of a century."

Attlee, addressing the Scottish Trade Union Congress, accused the former Conservative prime minister of "obscure imperialism" in regard to India.

Churchill has been a vigorous opponent of the Labor government's decision to withdraw from India by June of 1948.

Attlee replied to Churchill's jibe that the Laborites are "living on the American dollar" by recalling the Conservative leader's frequent tribute to wartime lend lease from the United States.

De Gaulle's Plan Coolly Received By French Press

PARIS, April 25—(INS)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle's proposal for a western European bloc as balance of power between opposing Russian and American interests received a cool reception in the French press today.

The Leftist La Depeche said De Gaulle's "new party (the 'Rally of the French People'), will not solve France's problems." It added: "De Gaulle's shadow is greater in Colombia (his suburban home) than in Paris."

Aube, organ of the popular Republican movement, said the former French president "wants to rock French democracy to sleep."

The Independent Combat commented, "De Gaulle is an optimist."

Even the Rightist L'Epoque rapped him, stating, "Charles is a man who gathers strength from the country's difficulties."

The Communist L'Humanite compared De Gaulle to Napoleon and termed him a "would-be dictator."

The Socialist party's Le Populaire said De Gaulle's news conference was "a waste of time."

De Gaulle told newsmen yesterday: "I suggest a Franco-British bloc, inviting Belgium, Holland, Italy, Germany and Austria to join. May be also Czechoslovakia, but not Spain."

The Communist L'Humanite compared De Gaulle to Napoleon and termed him a "would-be dictator."

A tabulation made public today in printed hearings on the Interior Department appropriation bill shows that the number of accidental deaths from all causes in bituminous mines fell from 1,245 in 1942, when the Federal Coal Mine Inspection Act became effective, to 758 in 1946.

For anthracite mines the figures are 226 in 1942 and 170 in 1946.

STROLLING JIM FINISHES CAREER

Horse lovers in this section gave a reception for him when he came back to retire from the life of a show horse. Strolling Jim is a farm horse that made good. The late Floyd Carothers rode him to the championship in the first National Walk-

It is on the Carothers farm, where he got his start, that his owner, Mrs. Elinor Graham, of Hollywood, Cal., feels he will be happiest during his last years.

Bethlehem Steel And Unions Reach New Agreement

NEW YORK, April 25—(INS)—Final agreement between the Bethlehem Steel Company and the CIO-United Steel Workers Union on a new contract was expected to be reached today.

Under terms of the new agreement the workers will get an overall wage increase of at least 15 cents an hour. More than 70,000 workers are involved and the contract follows the pattern established in the negotiations with U. S. Steel.

Joseph P. Moloney of Buffalo, chairman of the union negotiating committee said a flat 12 1/2 cents an hour boost in pay had been granted and that vacation pay and other grants would bring the raise to 15 cents an hour. He said only details remain to be discussed.

Eugene Grace, chairman of the board of Bethlehem said the company had agreed to the raise in wages and added:

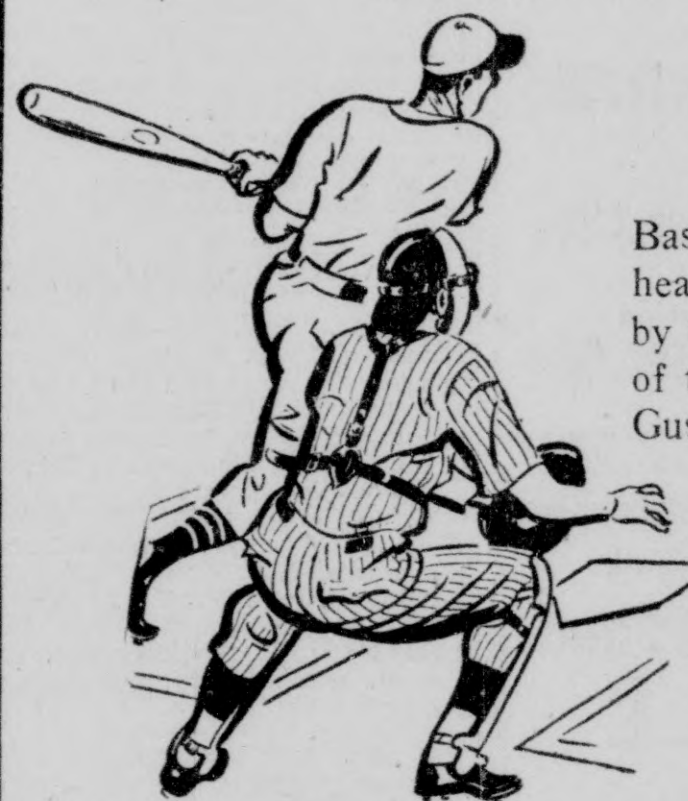

"I consider this raise in wages an unsound and uneconomical thing to have been done. We would manifestly have preferred to decrease steel prices $3 a ton rather than raise wages, as a contribution toward stopping inflationary trends."

Airlines Now Rush New Eyes To Help Blind

Distance No Obstacle In New Service To Transport Eyes To Blind Persons

(S.A.N. FRANCISCO, April 25.—(INS)—A top-flight air executive told Thursday how swift airlines are making the gift of sight transportable.

G. C. Lickteig, general manager of the air express division of the railway express agency, said that no longer need a blind person remain sightless because a prospective eye-donor lives the width of a nation away.

A small carton, marked "emergency-rush" can carry a human eye from a donor in San Francisco by means of swift arrangements of the agency to New York where it can be transplanted to restore sight—all within the eye's life span of 48 hours.

Lickteig said in the past few years science has learned how to transplant live corneas to eyes with clouded corneas, the cause of about one out of every ten cases of blindness.

Transportation by air, however, has been in service only the past two months, the most dramatic item in air cargo that include such things as the season's first cherries for the market.

Three eye banks now exist in the nation, linked by the air service—at San Francisco, Chicago and New York. But through special arrangements of the new service, an eye will be a donor any place in the nation can be rushed to one of the three eyebanks for transplanting within the 48 hours an eye lives after its donor's death.

Lickteig said that the eye is placed in a glass container, packed in ice to keep it at the 34 to 40 degree temperature which makes life dormant and then transported to the eye bank. It is taken to the operating room, warmed to body temperature and the operation performed.

He said "an eye must be handled carefully but it can be flown across the country with perfect safety."

"The eye is removed from the donor, usually one who has willed it

Teachers Meet At Annual Dinner

SPECIAL PROGRAM WELL PRESENTED

Approximately 240 teachers, supervisors and principals of the New Castle schools met at dinner Thursday night April 24 when the annual dinner meeting of the New Castle chapter, Pennsylvania State Education Association was held in the George Washington junior high school cafeteria.

Miss Grace McCabe, president of the chapter, presided.

The dinner was prepared by Mrs. Rachel Taylor, cafeteria manager and her assistants and served by the Tau Delta class of the Epworth Methodist church.

Present in addition to the teachers were Superintendent and Mrs. Frank L. Burton, members of the New Castle school board and their wives and principals of local service clubs. Frank L. Orth, former principal of the New Castle senior high school delivered the invocation.

Orchids To Miss McCabe

As a mark of esteem for her services as president in the past year Miss McCabe was presented with an orchid bouquet by the association. A "Clown Trio" composed of Miss Margaretta Hess, Mrs. J. W. Heikinen and Peter Griddle, Jr., presented a number of humorous numbers in keeping with the decor of the cafeteria which was in circus style. Flowers and circus decorations graced the tables. A special musical feature was the a cappella choir of the senior high school directed by Robert A. Duff.

President McCabe spoke upon the need for a better understanding between the instructional staff and the public as to the needs and aims of the public school system. Superintendent Burton spoke briefly as did Board President Leslie Brindle. Joseph W. Hartman, former president and now second vice president presented a report of the meeting in Harrisburg last Tuesday when House Bill 417 was under discussion at a public hearing. J. Earl McKenzie, the new president was presented and will take office at the meeting of May 7.

Credit for the success of the evening goes to the committees headed by the following: Social Committee, Betty Brown; decorations, Christine Picrel, Program, Helen G. Clark and Emma Maxwell. Dinner, Mary Hemphill. Music, Verlee Armstrong.

A number of manufacturers, intrigued by success of the plan in Newburyport, announced reductions of their prices to keep pace with the retail cuts already effected.

A number of other manufacturers, however, were waiting to see if the plan is successful before announcing new price scales.

Newburyport merchants said customers from outside their usual area were responsible for the nearly depleted stocks. Some customers came from as far away as Bridgeport, Conn., and Oldtown, Me.

Latest communities pledging to try the plan were Brockton, Hyannis and Fitchburg, all big shopping centers.

Doctor Facing Prison Term For Shooting

California Doctor Found Guilty In 'Unwritten Law' Shooting Of Attorney

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., April 25.—(INS)—Dr. Daniel Berni, prominent Bakersfield physician, faced a prison term today after being found guilty of the "unwritten law" shooting of Oscar Catalano, Bakersfield attorney.

A superior court jury found the doctor guilty yesterday of assault with a deadly weapon, but made no finding on the state's additional charge of attempted mayhem. The conviction carries a penalty of from one to ten years imprisonment.

The state charged Dr. Berni with attempted murder and contended that the physician attempted to mutilate Catalano because of his alleged intimacies with Dr. Berni's pretty wife, Jean.

The physician's defense had been that he "struck to defend his own home" when he shot the attorney in Catalano's office last January 2. He testified that he had only meant to "throw a scare" into Catalano.

Catalano, paralyzed by a bullet which struck his spine, has been confined to his home.

He said "an eye must be handled carefully but it can be flown across the country with perfect safety."

"The eye is removed from the donor, usually one who has willed it to be removed to an eye bank at the time of his death, and placed by the doctor in a silver eye cup. This is placed in a bottle with a ground glass neck.

Held Rigid

"The ground glass neck holds the cork rigid so that it won't be forced out at high altitude. This keeps the cornea out. The glass bottle is then packed in a thermos jug a little bigger than a quart, with ice and salt. It is then packed into a special container. The eye must be kept from freezing however, as freezing will kill it.

"Then it is immediately rushed to the airport, placed in charge of the stewardess or captain and a telegram sent to the eye bank. We meet it at the end of its journey with a special messenger and it is rushed to its destination. Railroad trains and even stagecoaches have been utilized for the beginning of the journey."

The air express manager said approximately a dozen eyes have been flown since the inauguration of the service two months ago.

A STATEMENT ABOUT THE STRIKE CALLED BY THE LEADERS OF THE PLANT TELEPHONE UNION

The Pennsylvania public can readily judge whether there is any justification whatsoever for the strike that has been called by the leaders of the Union representing our Plant Department employees.

The Company has bargained in good faith with representatives of the Plant Union since negotiations started on March 19 and has offered to arbitrate the matter of wages—the major issue now in dispute.

The record indicates that from the start the leaders of the Plant Union intended to precipitate a strike. They filed a strike notice before negotiations had even started.

They asked for a recess on April 5, when the only major matter on which agreement had not been reached was the number of arbitrators and the manner in which they were to be selected.

They said they would resume negotiations "in a few days".

They did not come back for two weeks.

During working hours of those two weeks, they carried on "continuous" meetings of Plant employees called in an attempt to keep them from their work. This is in effect a strike.

Last week they took a strike vote of their members. It is alleged that the members were told that the Union leaders would not use this power until all attempts to reach an agreement failed.

On Saturday, April 19, the Plant Union met with the Company representatives for less than five hours.

The Company requested the Chairman of the Plant Union Negotiating Committee, in view of the fairness of the Company's offer to submit the offer to the vote of their membership. This was refused.

The Plant Union recessed with the Understanding that they would get in touch with a U. S. Conciliator and notify the Committee of a meeting to be arranged.

Instead of doing this, instructions were issued by the Plant Union leaders about midnight Saturday to call all members out on strike Monday morning. They recalled that order late Sunday, stating they could not get a majority of Union Local heads to indorse their action.

For three days, starting on Monday, April 21, representatives of the Company and the Union met with a Commissioner of the U. S. Conciliation Service. After these three days of negotiations the Commissioner stated that he felt that the two parties were in substantial agreement on all but two points.

We believe that the great majority of the Plant employees of this Company do not approve of the action of the leaders of the Plant Union and will loyally discharge their responsibility to the public.

Telephone Employment Has These Ten Fundamental Advantages:

1. Telephone wages compare favorably with those paid for comparable knowledge and skills in other industries in the community.
2. Telephone wages are based on a 5-day week, with extra pay for overtime for Sundays and holidays, and for evening and night work.
3. Telephone work is steady work — 52 weeks a year.
4. New telephone employees are paid good wages while they are learning and their pay increases steadily as proficiency increases.
5. The Company's Benefit Plan provides for pay to employees off duty as a result of sickness — for various periods depending upon length of service.
6. The Benefit Plan also provides, in case of death, for payments to an employee's dependents — the amount depending upon length of service.
7. Pension payments are given to employees upon retirement — with full cost paid by the Company.
8. Telephone employees enjoy, with pay, regular holidays and vacations.
9. Telephone working conditions are equal to those found in leading industries in the State.
10. Telephone employees are given every opportunity and help to get ahead. They move up from the ranks on the basis of individual merit. Supervisory and management forces start their telephone careers at the bottom.

Seek Assistance Of Wholesalers To Keep Prices Down
NEWBURYPORT, Mass., April 25.—(INS)—Backers of the "Newburyport plan" for ten per cent price cuts in retail sales looked today to wholesalers for assistance in keeping the ball rolling.

More and more communities throughout New England and the rest of the United States are lining up with Newburyport in putting the plan into operation. Stocks were nearing depletion in many retail outlets and dealers called for more supplies.

A number of manufacturers, intrigued by success of the plan in Newburyport, announced reductions of their prices to keep pace with the retail cuts already effected.

A number of other manufacturers, however, were waiting to see if the plan is successful before announcing new price scales.

Newburyport merchants said customers from outside their usual area were responsible for the nearly depleted stocks. Some customers came from as far away as Bridgeport, Conn., and Oldtown, Me.

Chester Adopts
Price-Cut Plan
CHESTER, Pa., April 25.—(INS)—The city of Chester on Thursday adopted the "Newburyport plan" for price-cutting for a two-weeks period.

The Chester Business Bureau disclosed that the plan for cutting prices 10 per cent on all items would probably go into effect Monday.

Chester thus became the first major Pennsylvania community to adopt the price-cutting plan, first sponsored by Newburyport, Mass., in line with President Truman's appeal for price slashes.

Dr. T. Z. Koo Speaks At YMCA Drive Opening

Chinese Educator Gives Inspiring Message At Association Thursday

Persons connected with the World Youth Fund Campaign in the city came away from their kick-off dinner Thursday evening in the "Y" with a much fuller understanding of their task and the importance of their mission.

The team workers, their captains and other officials of the local effort were inspired by a talk given by Dr. T. Z. Koo, widely-known Chinese educator and lecturer, whose hard-hitting message, eloquently delivered, launched the campaign in New Castle.

Speaks of China
Dr. Koo used the backdrop of his native China to bring out his message to the audience. Sketching the history of his nation and dwelling on its current plight, the speaker gave much credit to the "Y" movement for perpetuating the Christian way of life among his people.

"Missionary work in China had done admirable work," he said, "but was unable to reach the 'educated' class of the country until the 'Y. M. C. A.' sent delegates to work with the students. Until then fine strides had been made with the other classes, the mechanics, farmers and merchants, but great impetus was gained with the arrival and efforts of the 'Y' staffers.

Tells of Need
China, said Dr. Koo, is no different from other war-ravaged countries needing the rebirth of the movement. The war was such a setback, both materially and spiritually to all Christian institutions in these lands that it will take ceaseless work and adequate funds to restore the ideals of Christianity and rebuild destroyed buildings, he stated.

Dr. Koo also spoke Thursday afternoon, where a talk to the students of Union high school was heartily received.

Other speakers at the dinner include Joel S. McKee, general chairman of the drive, who spoke briefly on the aims of the campaign, and J. Clyde Gillilan, chairman of the executive committee, who sketched the goal of the city. It is hoped to raise $9,600 here under the sponsorship of the two Y.M.C.A. branches.

John Boyles President
John P. Boyles, president of the executive board, presided at the dinner and called the meeting to order. Invocation was pronounced by Dr. Burr R. McKnight, while Sam Lewis led the guests in the singing of "America" with Emil Henshaw at the piano.

Following the dinner and the speaking program, prospectus cards were issued to the workers.

Attlee Assails Winston Churchill

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, April 25—(INS)—British Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee bitterly assailed Winston Churchill today as "Britain's most disastrous chancellor of a century."

Attlee, addressing the Scottish Trade Union Congress, accused the former Conservative prime minister of "obsolete imperialism" in regard to India.

Churchill has been a vigorous opponent of the Labor government's decision to withdraw from India by June of 1948.

Attlee replied to Churchill's jibe that the Laborites are "lying on the American dole" by recalling the Conservative leader's frequent tribute to wartime lend lease from the United States.

De Gaulle's Plan Coolly Received By French Press

PARIS, April 25—(INS)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle's proposal for a western European bloc as balance of power between opposing Russian and American interests received a cool reception in the French press today.

The Leftist La Depeche said De Gaulle's "new party (the 'Rally of the French People') will not solve France's problems." It added: "De Gaulle's shadow is greater in Germany (his suburban home) than in Paris."

Aube, organ of the popular Republican movement, said the former French president "wants to rock French democracy to sleep."

The Independent Combat commented, "De Gaulle is an optimist. Even the Rightist L'Epoque rapped him, stating, 'Charles is a man who gathers strength from the country's difficulties.'"

The Communist L'Humanite compared De Gaulle to Napoleon and termed him a "would-be dictator." The Socialist party's Le Populaire said De Gaulle's news conference was "a waste of time."

De Gaulle told newsmen yesterday, "I suggest a Franco-British bloc, inviting Belgium, Holland, Italy, Germany and Austria to join. Maybe also Czechoslovakia, but not Spain."

Mine Fatalities Show Decrease

WASHINGTON, April 25—Coal mine fatalities declined from 1,474 in 1942 to 928 in 1946, the Bureau of Mines informed the House Appropriations Committee.

A tabulation made public today in printed hearings on the Interior Department appropriation bill shows that the number of accidental deaths from all causes in bituminous mines fell from 1,245 in 1942, when the Federal Coal Mine Inspection Act became effective, to 758 in 1946.

For anthracite mines the figures are 226 in 1942 and 170 in 1946.

STROLLING JIM FINISHES CAREER

Horse lovers in this section gave a reception for him when he came back to retire from the life of a show horse. Strolling Jim is a farm horse that made good. The late Floyd Carethers rode him to the championship in the first National Walk-

It is on the Carothers farm, where he got his start, that his owner, Mrs. Elmer Graham, of Hollywood, Cal., feels he will be happiest during his last years.

Bethlehem Steel And Unions Reach New Agreement

NEW YORK, April 25—(INS)—Final agreement between the Bethlehem Steel Company and the CIO-United Steel Workers' Union on a new contract was expected to be reached today.

Under terms of the new agreement the workers will get an overall wage increase of at least 15 cents an hour. More than 70,000 workers are involved and the contract follows the pattern established in the negotiations with U. S. Steel.

Joseph P. Moloney of Buffalo, chairman of the union negotiating committee said a flat 12 1/2 cents an hour boost in pay had been granted and that vacation pay and other grants would bring the raise to 15 cents an hour. He said only details remain to be discussed.

Eugene Grace, chairman of the board of Bethlehem said the company had agreed to the raise in wages and added:

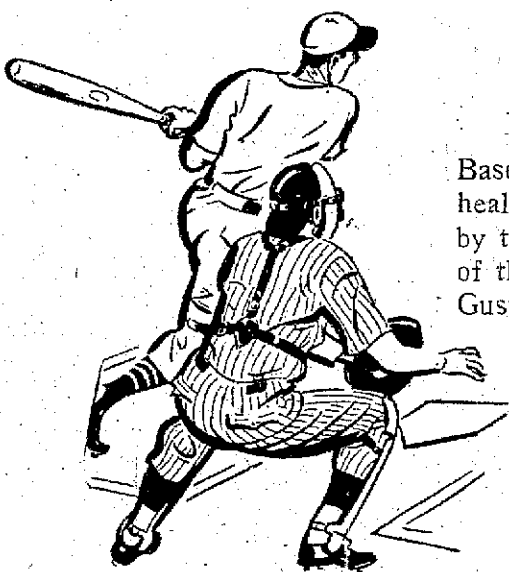

"I consider this raise in wages an unsound and uneconomical thing to have been done. We would manifestly have preferred to decrease steel prices $3 a ton rather than raise wages, as a contribution toward stopping inflationary trends."

Preparing For Installation Of Sigma Nu Chapter

Several Hundred Visitors To Arrive
At Westminster For Saturday Event

NEW WILMINGTON, April 25.—Advance guards to the visitors that will pour into New Wilmington tomorrow for the Sigma Nu installation began settling on this college town today.

By tomorrow noon it is expected that several hundred college students representing Sigma chapters on their campus will have taken over the town. In addition many Westminster alumni, members of the old Kappa Phi Lambda fraternity, will arrive to change their fraternity affiliation from Kaps to Sigma Nu. Sixty-five active members will also make the change.

Informal get togethers will mark the early morning activity. At 2 p. m., the formal initiation of present Kaps and several score alumni will take place in the college gymnasium. The charter presentation will be held in the evening in conjunction with a dinner at the Cathedral in New Castle.

Main Speaker

John M. Ward, Grand Regent of the Sigma Fraternity from Montgomery, Alabama, will be the main speaker. Other speakers will include Charles E. Palmer, second Vice-Regent, Albert Wilson, Grand Historian, who with J. Edward Murphy, District Inspector, was instrumental in locating the one-hundredth Sigma Chapter at Westminster. Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, former president of the college, and President H. Lloyd Cleland will be in attendance.

Oddly enough, the new fraternity is seven years younger than its predecessor. Kappa Phi Lambda fraternity was founded at Washington and Jefferson college in 1862. Two years later a chapter was located at Westminster. The first Sigma Nu chapter was established at Virginia Military Institute in 1869.

Only One Remained

Stringent anti fraternity laws killed off eleven of the twelve chapters of the budding young Kap organization. By 1874 only the Westminster chapter remained. Through the "Dark Ages" of fraternities at Westminster the Kaps existed 33 years "sub rosa" coming brazenly into the open on many occasions.

Meanwhile, Sigma Nu was growing by leaps and bounds. Early in 1945 the move to bring Kappa Phi Lambda into the fold was begun. Attorney John Miller, Pittsburgh, an active Kap alumni, approached the New Wilmington Greeks with the proposal. It was followed through mainly under the guidance of Roy Neville, Sharon attorney, and Judge James Chambers of New Castle.

Formal pledging for the Westminster group was held last Sunday at the Castleton by the Carnegie Tech Sigma Nu pledge team. The same group will install the new chapter on Saturday. Representatives from Alabama, Georgetown, Penn State, Mount Union, West Virginia, Bethany, and Carnegie Tech colleges will attend.

Says Food Prices Must Be Reduced

CHICAGO, April 25.—(INS)—The head of one of the world's largest food store chains left a warning Thursday that the United States faces the threat of "an inflation which would be disastrous" if food prices are not reduced.

Joseph Hall, president of the Kroger Co., which operates 2,600 stores, told an audience of midwest executives in Chicago: "There must be a stable economy. Prices on all food products must come down to the level of the buyer's budget or the nation will experience an inflation which would be disastrous to business and the public."

Hall advised "farmers, brokers, packers and others all down the line" to "back up and realize that for long range prosperity... prices have to come down."

AUZAC DAY IS CELEBRATED BY TROOPS IN JAPAN

TOKYO, April 25.—(INS)—Australian and New Zealand occupation troops numbering 6,250 celebrated the 32nd annual Anzac day in Japan today with parades and speeches in three Japanese cities.

The celebration started at dawn with military processions in Tokyo and Hiro. Larger morning parades were staged in Anzac park at Kure, where 1,600 marchers took part.

Four thousand paraders in Hiro were addressed by Air Vice Marshall F. M. Badin, acting commander of the Anzac forces in Japan.

In Tokyo 650 Australians and New Zealanders paced across the spacious plaza of Emperor Hirohito's palace.

Distance No Obstacle In New Service To Transport Eyes
To Blind Persons

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—(INS)—A top-flight air executive told Thursday how swift airlines are making the gift of sight transportable.

Mr. C. Lickteig, general manager of the air express division of the railway express agency, said that no longer need a blind person remain sightless because a prospective eye-donor lives the width of a nation away.

A small carton, marked "emergency-rush" can carry a human eye from a donor in San Francisco by means of swift arrangements of the agency to New York where it can be transplanted to restore sight—all within the eye's life span of 48 hours.

Lickteig said in the past few years science has learned how to transplant live corneas to eyes with clouded corneas, the cause of about one out of every ten cases of blindness.

Transportation by air, however, has been in service only the past two months, the most dramatic item in air cargo that includes such things as the season's first cherries for the market.

Three eye banks now exist in the nation, linked by the air service—at San Francisco, Chicago and New York. But through special arrangements of the new service, an eye willed by a donor any place in the nation can be rushed to one of the three eyebanks for transplanting within the 48 hours an eye lives after its donor's death.

Lickteig said that the eye is placed in a glass container, packed in ice to keep it at the 34 to 40 degree temperature which makes life dormant and then transported to the eye bank. It is taken to the operating room, warmed to body temperature and the operation performed.

He said "an eye must be handled carefully but it can be flown across the country with perfect safety."

"The eye is removed from the donor, usually one who has willed it

Held Rigid
The ground glass neck holds the cork rigid so that it won't be forced out at high altitude. This keeps the cornea out. The glass bottle is then packed in a thermos jug, a little bigger than a quart, with ice and salt. It is then packed into a special container. The eye must be kept from freezing however, as freezing will kill it.

Then it is immediately rushed to the airport, placed in charge of the stewardess or captain and a telegram sent to the eye bank. We meet it at the end of its journey with a special messenger and it is rushed to its destination. Railroad trains and even stagecoaches have been utilized for the beginning of the journey.

The air express manager said approximately a dozen eyes have been flown since the inauguration of the service two months ago.

Doctor Facing Prison Term For Shooting

California Doctor Found Guilty In 'Unwritten Law' Shooting Of Attorney

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., April 25.—(INS)—Dr. Daniel Berni, prominent Bakersfield physician, faced a prison term today after being found guilty of the "unwritten law" shooting of Oscar Catalano, Bakersfield attorney.

A superior court jury found the doctor guilty yesterday of assault with a deadly weapon, but made no finding on the state's additional charge of attempted mayhem. The conviction carries a penalty of from one to ten years imprisonment.

The state charged Dr. Berni with attempted murder and contended that the physician attempted to mutilate Catalano because of his alleged intimacies with Dr. Berni's pretty wife, Jean.

The physician's defense had been that he "struck to defend his own home" when he shot the attorney in Catalano's office last January 2. He testified that he had only meant to "throw a scare" into Catalano.

Catalano, paralyzed by a bullet which struck his spine, has been confined to his home.

Teachers Meet At Annual Dinner

Approximately 240 Teachers

SPECIAL PROGRAM WELL PRESENTED

Approximately 240 teachers, supervisors and principals of the New Castle schools met at dinner Thursday night April 24 when the annual dinner of the New Castle chapter, Pennsylvania State Education Association was held in the George Washington Junior high school cafeteria.

Miss Grace McCabe, president of the chapter, presided.

The dinner was prepared by Mrs. Rachel Taylor, cafeteria manager, and her assistants and served by the Tau Delta class of the Epworth Methodist church.

Present in addition to the teachers were Superintendent and Mrs. Frank L. Burton, members of the New Castle school board and their wives and presidents of local service clubs. Frank L. Burton, former principal of the New Castle senior high school delivered the invocation.

Orchids To Miss McCabe
As a mark of esteem for her services as president in the past year Miss McCabe was presented with an orchid bouquet by the association. A "Clown Trio" composed of Miss Margaretta Hess, Mrs. J. W. Heikkinen and Peter Griddle, Jr., presented a number of humorous numbers in keeping with the decor of the cafeteria which was in circus style. Flowers and circus decorations graced the tables. A special musical feature was the a cappella choir of the senior high school directed by Robert A. Duff.

President McCabe spoke upon the need for a better understanding between the instructional staff and the public as to the needs and aims of the public school system. Superintendent Burton spoke briefly as did Board President Leslie Brindle. Joseph W. Hartman, former president and now second vice president presented a report of the meeting in Harrisburg, last Tuesday when House Bill 417 was under discussion at a public hearing. J. Earl McKenzie, the new president was presented and will take office at the meeting of May 7.

Credit for the success of the evening goes to the committees headed by the following: Social Committee, Betsy Brown; decorations, Christine Fierell, Program, Helen G. Clark and Emma Maxwell. Dinner, Mary Hemphill. Music, Verlee Armstrong.

Seek Assistance Of Wholesalers To Keep Prices Down

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., April 25.—(INS)—Backers of the "Newburyport plan" for ten per cent price cuts in retail sales looked today to wholesalers in keeping the ball rolling.

More and more communities throughout New England and the rest of the United States are lining up with Newburyport in putting the plan into operation. Stocks were nearing depletion in many retail outlets and dealers called for more supplies.

A number of manufacturers, intrigued by success of the plan in Newburyport, announced reductions of their prices to keep pace with the retail cuts already effected.

A number of other manufacturers, however, were waiting to see if the plan is successful before announcing new price slashes.

Newburyport merchants said customers from outside their retail area were responsible for the nearly depleted stocks. Some customers came from as far away as Bridgeport, Conn., and Oldtown, Me.

Latest communities pledging to try the plan were Brockton, Hyannis and Fitchburg, all big shopping centers.

Chester Adopts Price-Cut Plan

CHESTER, Pa., April 25.—(INS)—The city of Chester on Thursday adopted the "Newburyport plan" for price-cutting for a two-week period.

The Chester Business Bureau disclosed that the plan for cutting prices 10 per cent on all items would probably go into effect Monday.

Chester thus became the first major Pennsylvania community to adopt the price-cutting plan first sponsored by Newburyport, Mass., in line with President Truman's appeal for price slashes.

The victims included:

NEW FIVE FOR RADAR
MORGANTOWN, W. Va.—(INS)—A huge 72,000 pound radar unit, used during the war to detect enemy planes and warships, will be utilized by West Virginia university in a much more peaceable way. The $72,000 unit will be used by the university's College of Agriculture to determine the flight habits of migratory birds. It consists of a trailer and two truck loads of equipment.

The pouches that cover the side of a gopher's head are capable of being so distended as to enable the animal to carry a considerable load of provisions.

A STATEMENT ABOUT THE STRIKE CALLED BY THE LEADERS OF THE PLANT TELEPHONE UNION

The Pennsylvania public can readily judge whether there is any justification whatsoever for the strike that has been called by the leaders of the Union representing our Plant Department employees.

The Company has bargained in good faith with representatives of the Plant Union since negotiations started on March 19 and has offered to arbitrate the matter of wages—the major issue now in dispute.

The record indicates that from the start the leaders of the Plant Union intended to precipitate a strike.

They filed a strike notice before negotiations had even started.

They asked for a recess on April 5, when the only major matter on which agreement had not been reached was the number of arbitrators and the manner in which they were to be selected.

They said they would resume negotiations "in a few days".

They did not come back for two weeks.

During working hours of those two weeks, they carried on "continuous" meetings of Plant employees called in an attempt to keep them from their work. This is in effect a strike.

Last week they took a strike vote of their members. It is alleged that the members were told that the Union leaders would not use this power until all attempts to reach an agreement failed.

On Saturday, April 19, the Plant Union met with the Company representatives for less than five hours.

The Company requested the Chairman of the Plant Union Negotiating Committee, in view of the fairness of the Company's offer to submit the offer to the vote of their membership. This was refused.

The Plant Union recessed with the Understanding that they would get in touch with a U. S. Conciliator and notify the Committee of a meeting to be arranged.

Instead of doing this, instructions were issued by the Plant Union leaders about midnight Saturday to call all members out on strike Monday morning. They recalled that order late Sunday, stating they could not get a majority of Union Local heads to indorse their action.

For three days, starting on Monday, April 21, representatives of the Company and the Union met with a Commissioner of the U. S. Conciliation Service. After these three days of negotiations the Commissioner stated that he felt that the two parties were in substantial agreement on all but two points.

We believe that the great majority of the Plant employees of this Company do not approve of the action of the leaders of the Plant Union and will loyally discharge their responsibility to the public.

Telephone Employment Has These Ten Fundamental Advantages:

1. Telephone wages compare favorably with those paid for comparable knowledge and skills in other industries in the community.
2. Telephone wages are based on a 5-day week, with extra pay for overtime for Sundays and holidays, and for evening and night work.
3. Telephone work is steady work — 52 weeks a year.
4. New telephone employees are paid good wages while they are learning and their pay increases steadily as proficiency increases.
5. The Company's Benefit Plan provides for pay to employees off duty as a result of sickness — for various periods depending upon length of service.
6. The Benefit Plan also provides, in case of death, for payments to an employee's dependents — the amount depending upon length of service.
7. Pension payments are given to employees upon retirement — with full cost paid by the Company.
8. Telephone employees enjoy, with pay, regular holidays and vacations.
9. Telephone working conditions are equal to those found in leading industries in the State.
10. Telephone employees are given every opportunity and help to get ahead. They move up from the ranks on the basis of individual merit. Supervisory and management forces start their telephone careers at the bottom.

College Expert Urges Using Key Men In Germany

Radio Education Head Says Top Personnel Should Be Used In Occupation

COLUMBUS, O., April 25.—(INS)—Dr. I. Keith Tyler, head of radio education at Ohio State university, has urged universities, research firms and other groups employing top personnel in many fields to lend their key men to Germany to help make the occupation work.

He recently returned from a three months survey in Germany as part of a war department program to draft expert help on German re-education.

Dr. Tyler declared on his return that the indifference and apathy of the American people, who wanted to just beat Germany and "then forget about it", may endanger the whole occupation task.

Need Good Men
He stated that the "crying need in Germany today is competent American personnel." He said that he and other Americans doing various jobs in Germany were hopeful that eventually the country could be democratized but that it would take good personnel in many key areas to do the job.

"And those people are not available today in Germany in any considerable numbers," the OSU professor said. He pointed out that persons holding key positions in the U. S. do not volunteer or will not go if requested because they will lose out on career security, tenure and advancement at home if they do a two-year job in Germany.

"It is the job of colleges, commerce, industry and other areas which have some good people to assure their men that their jobs and salaries will be protected while they help to do the job right in Germany," Tyler said.

The OSU school radio expert was part of a group of education experts who made surveys and recommendations to the military government on the best education methods to follow in the defeated and broken country.

OPPOSES MERGER OF OVERSEAS AIRLINES INTO ONE COMPANY

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(INS)—U. S. Ambassador to Brazil William A. Paulley, expressed vigorous opposition to consolidation of United States overseas airlines into one company.

Paulley, appearing before the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, said that competition made U. S. Airlines the best in the world, and would keep them so.

He cited the British Imperial Airways as an example of monopoly operation that did not keep up with the latest progress in aviation.

Paulley's testimony was in opposition to a proposed bill that would consolidate all overseas operations into an "American Flag" line.

Governor Signs Seventeen Bills

Numerous Measures Passed By State Legislature Approved By Governor Duff

HARRISBURG, April 25.—(INS)—Gov. James H. Duff's signature today was on 17 additional bills, including measures authorizing commonwealth participation in the federal school lunch program and permitting school districts to provide free milk to needy students.

Validate State's Role
The measure will validate the state's role in the present non-profit lunch plan and extend the milk distribution privilege now enjoyed by first and second class districts. They were introduced by Rep. W. Stuart Helm (R) Armstrong, and endorsed by the department of public instruction.

New laws included legislation drafted by the aeronautics commission to permit first and second class townships to participate in an airport development program. They would be permitted to operate airports jointly with municipal authorities under the statutes.

Three bills approved by the governor revised the decedents' estates law to permit orphans court procedure in handling intestate cases and to deny inheritance to relatives more distant than first cousins where wills are not made. They were sponsored by the joint state government commission.

Ballot Law Change
Ballot positions will be determined on the basis of votes polled by various party candidates for governor during the last gubernatorial election under another approved measure. Its net effect would give Republicans top positions.

Other measures approved will permit the governor to use facsimile signatures on official documents; increase from $50 to $75 county contributions toward erection of headstones in cemeteries for servicemen buried overseas; further regulate garbage and treatment works operated in first class townships; define powers and immunities of building and loan associations and their shareholders; establish September 14 as national anthem day, and increase allowances for first and second class townships delegates attending conferences.

Science-Officer Corps Planned In U. S. Armed Forces

PHILADELPHIA, April 25.—(INS)—War department preparations to create a new corps of super "scientist-officers" were disclosed today by Maj. Gen. Henry S. Aurand.

General Aurand, research director of the general staff, said young scientists and engineers would be chosen from the nation's foremost technical schools.

"The average West Point graduate has been fixed in too rigid a mould," he told a military engineers society in Philadelphia.

The general estimated it would take 10 years before the first young officers, commissioned direct from school, would head research and development staffs of major war department agencies.

General Aurand revealed that he had initiated a directive setting the plan in motion and forwarded it to the office of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

He said the directive, if approved, would provide for the annual intake of approximately 50 scientists and engineers.

The research director explained that after two years of training with troops, the new corpsmen would be "farmed out" to technical schools to take masters and doctors degrees.

See Chance Now For Faster Action On Japanese Treaty

TOKYO, April 25.—(INS)—United States officials in Tokyo expressed a belief today that failure of the Moscow conference to write peace terms for Germany might bring faster action on a treaty for Japan.

One American official said: "Now there ought to be talks about a Japanese treaty by September or October or may be even in August."

Another official declared there is a growing belief that the problems of exacting reparations from Japan and allowing her to re-enter world trade cannot be "finally solved" without a peace treaty.

Eight-Year-Old Saves Life Of Small Sister

Training received in school helped an eight-year-old lad save the life of his three-year-old sister early this week.

The parents of Louie Gargasz, Mr. and Mrs. John Gargasz, Jr., were remodeling their home near Volant when, in burning some waste paper, their three-year-old daughter Joanne got too close to the fire and her clothing began to flame.

was spared through the alertness of her brother Louie.

Upon questioning, young Louie attributed his level headedness to the training he had received in school on how to act in times of fire.

Preparing For Installation Of Sigma Nu Chapter

At Westminster For Saturday Event

NEW WILMINGTON, April 25.—Advance guards to the visitors that will pour into New Wilmington tomorrow for the Sigma Nu installation began settling on this college town today.

By tomorrow noon it is expected that several hundred college students representing Sigma chapters on their campus will have taken over the town. In addition many Westminster alumni, members of the old Kappa Phi Lambda fraternity, will arrive to change their fraternity affiliation from Kaps to Sigma Nu. Sixty-five active members will also make the change.

Informal get togethers will mark the early morning activity. At 2 p. m., the formal initiation of present Kaps and several score alumni will take place in the college gymnasium. The charter presentation will be held in the evening in conjunction with a dinner at the Cathedral in New Castle.

Main Speaker
John M. Ward, Grand Regent of the Sigma Fraternity, Montgomery, Alabama, will be the main speaker. Other speakers will include Charles E. Palmer, second Vice-Regent, Albert Wilson, Grand Historian, who with J. Edward Murphy, District Inspector, was instrumental in locating the one-hundredth Sigma Chapter at Westminster. Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, former president of the college, and President H. Lloyd Cleland will be in attendance.

Oddly enough, the new fraternity is seven years younger than its predecessor. Kappa Phi Lambda fraternity was founded at Washington and Jefferson college in 1862. Two years later a chapter was located at Westminster. The first Sigma Nu chapter was established at Virginia Military Institute in 1869.

Only One Remained
Stringent anti fraternity laws killed off eleven of the twelve chapters of the budding young Kap organization. By 1874 only the Westminster chapter remained. Through the "Dark Ages" of fraternities at Westminster the Kaps existed 33 years "sub rosa" coming brazenly into the open on many occasions.

Meanwhile, Sigma Nu was growing by leaps and bounds. Early in 1945 the move to bring Kappa Phi Lambda into the fold was begun. Attorney John Miller, Pittsburgh, an active Kap alumni, approached the New Wilmington Greeks with the proposal. It was followed through mainly under the guidance of Roy Neville, Sharon, attorney, and Judge James Chambers of New Castle.

Formal pledging for the Westminster group was held last Sunday at the Castleton by the Carnegie Tech Sigma Nu pledge team. The same group will install the new chapter on Saturday. Representatives from Alabama, Georgetown, Penn State, Mount Union, West Virginia, Bethany, and Carnegie Tech colleges will attend.

Says Food Prices Must Be Reduced

CHICAGO, April 25.—(INS)—The head of one of the world's largest food store chains left a warning Thursday that the United States faces the threat of "an inflation which would be disastrous" if food prices are not reduced.

Joseph Hall, president of the Kroger Co., which operates 2,600 stores, told an audience of midwest executives in Chicago:

"There must be a stable economy. Prices on all food products must come down to the level of the buyer's budget or the nation will experience an inflation which would be disastrous to business and the public."

Hall advised "farmers, brokers, packers and others all down the line" to "back up and realize that for long range prosperity... prices have to come down."

AUZAC DAY IS CELEBRATED BY TROOPS IN JAPAN

TOKYO, April 25.—(INS)—Australian and New Zealand occupation troops numbering 6,250 celebrated the 32nd annual Anzac day in Japan today with parades and speeches in three Japanese cities.

The celebration started at dawn with military processions in Tokyo and Hiro. Larger morning parades were staged in Anzac park at Kure, where 1,600 marchers took part.

Four thousand paraders in Hiro were addressed by Air Vice Marshal F. M. Baden, acting commander of the Anzac forces in Japan.

In Tokyo 650 Australians and New Zealanders paced across the spacious plaza of Emperor Hirohito's palace.

Presbyterial Meets At Ellwood Church

Shenango Presbyterial Has Spring Session Thursday In First Presbyterian Church

Seventy-second spring Presbyterial of Shenango was held Thursday in the First Presbyterian church, Ellwood City. After a noon recess, the afternoon session began at 1:15 o'clock. A Young People's Fellowship dinner and rally were features of the evening.

Morning Session
Mrs. E. E. Moon, president, was in charge of the morning assembly, when a worship service was conducted by Mr. John M. Fife. Greetings were given the women by Mrs. O. R. Stang of the host church. Following a talk by Miss Madeline Johnson, field director of Christian Education, Cincinnati, officers were elected.

Officers named are: president, Mrs. E. E. Moon; vice-president of New Castle district, Mrs. Benjamin Jenkins; vice-president of New Wilmington district, Mrs. William Drake; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Clare Friday, and assistant corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. R. Downing. Secretaries follow: literature, Mrs. W. L. Wishart; missionary education, Mrs. Grace Benford; national missions work, Mrs. H. W. Marshall; stewardship and spiritual life, Mrs. Ralph Throop; education and action, Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine; young people and seniors, Mrs. John M. Fife; program material, Mrs. George Englehardt, and membership, Mrs. Jesse Carr. Mrs. Paul Osborne was chosen as a member of the nominating committee.

Mrs. Moon presided at the afternoon assembly which began with organ music by Mrs. Roy Bham. Meditation from national council was given by Mrs. Clifford M. Propst. After a talk by Miss Antoinette Chubb, Wootton Community Center, Ky., Mrs. Arthur C. Brown, assistant treasurer, gave an outstanding report. This is interesting since Shenango Presbyterial more than reached its goal of money for the year, including both national and foreign funds.

Mrs. C. N. Moore offered prayer when the offering was received later. Mrs. William Mitchell pleased with a vocal solo. Mrs. John McNeill reported for the courtesy committee, while Mrs. Charles Nelson of the place committee announced that next spring's meeting will take place in Westfield Presbyterian church.

At 6:30 o'clock Roy Meehan, president, was in charge of the Westminster Fellowship assembly and dinner. Devotions were conducted by youth of Slippery Rock Presbyterian church. Later Miss Johnson spoke.

Second U. P. Will Elect More Elders

As an outgrowth of the yearly congregational meeting of Second U. P. church, the session has called for a congregational assembly to be conducted Sunday, May 4, after morning worship service.

Purpose of the gathering will be to elect additional elders to the present board which numbers 12. J. Calvin Rose, moderator, and Carl R. Baldwin, clerk of session, will preside at the special assembly.

In Japan a marriage ceremony consists of passing a cup of wine 18 times between the bride and bridegroom.

College Expert Urges Using Key Men In Germany

Radio Education Head Says Top
Personnel Should Be Used
In Occupation

COLUMBUS, O., April 25.—(INS)—Dr. I. Keith Tyler, head of radio education at Ohio State university, has urged universities, research firms and other groups employing top personnel in many fields to lend their key men to Germany to help make the occupation work.

He recently returned from a three months survey in Germany as part of a war department program to draft expert help on German re-education.

Dr. Tyler declared on his re- turn that the indifference and apathy of the American people, who wanted to just beat Germany and "then forget about it," may endan- ger the whole occupation task.

Need Good Men
He stated that the "crying need in Germany today is competent American personnel." He said that he and other Americans doing va- rious jobs in Germany were hopeful that eventually the country could be democratized but that it would take good personnel in many key areas to do the job.

"And those people are not avail- able today in Germany in any con- siderable numbers," the OSU pro- fessor said. He pointed out that persons holding key positions in the U. S. do not volunteer or will not go if requested because they "will lose out on career security, tenure and advancement at home if they do a two-year job in Germany."

"It is the job of colleges, com- merce, industry and other areas which have some good people to assure their men that their jobs and salaries will be protected while they help to do the job right in Ger- many," Tyler said.

The OSU school radio expert was part of a group of education ex- perts who made surveys and recom- mendations to the military govern- ment on the best education methods to follow in the defeated and broken country.

OPPOSES MERGER OF OVERSEAS AIRLINES INTO ONE COMPANY

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(INS)—U. S. Ambassador to Brazil Wil- liam A. Paulley expressed vigorous opposition to consolidation of United States overseas airlines into one company.

Paulley, appearing before the House Interstate and Foreign Com- merce Committee, said that com- petition made U. S. Airlines the best in the world, and would keep them so.

He cited the British Imperial Air- ways as an example of monopoly operation, and said that it was not keeping up with the latest progress in aviation.

Paulley's testimony was in op- position to a proposed bill that would consolidate all overseas op- erations into an "American Flag" line.

Governor Signs Seventeen Bills

Numerous Measures Passed By State Legislature Approved
By Governor Duff

HARRISBURG, April 25.—(INS)—Gov. James H. Duff's signature today was on 17 additional bills, in- cluding measures authorizing com- monwealth participation in the fed- eral school lunch program and per- mitting school districts to provide free milk to needy students.

Validate State's Role
The measure will validate the state's role in the present non-pro- fit lunch plan and extend the milk distribution privilege now enjoyed by first and second class districts. They were introduced by Rep. W. Stuart Helm (R) Armstrong, and endorsed by the department of pub- lic instruction.

New laws included legislation drafted by the aeronautics commis- sion to permit first and second class townships to participate in an air- port development program. They would be permitted to operate air- ports jointly with municipal author- ities under the statutes.

Three bills approved by the gov- ernor revised the decedents' estates laws to alter orphans court proce- dure in handling intestate cases and to deny inheritance to relatives un- less distant than first cousins where wills are no made. They were sponsored by the joint state government commission.

Ballot Law Change
Ballot positions will be deter- mined on the basis of votes polled by various party candidates for gov- ernor during the last gubernatorial election under another approved measure. Its net effect would give Republicans top positions.

Other measures approved will per- mit the governor to use facsimile signatures on official documents; increase from $50 to $75 county con- tributions toward erection of head- stones in cemeteries for servicemen buried overseas; further regulate garbage and treatment works op- erating in first class townships; de- fine powers and immunities of building and loan associations and their shareholders; establish Sep- tember 14 as national anthem day, and increase allowances for first and second class townships dele- gates attending conferences.

Science-Officer Corps Planned In U. S. Armed Forces

PHILADELPHIA, April 25.—(INS)—War department preparations to create a new corps of super "scien- tist-officers" were disclosed today by Maj. Gen. Henry S. Aurand.

General Aurand, research direc- tor of the general staff, said young scientists and engineers would be chosen from the nation's foremost technical schools.

"The average West Point gradu- ate has been fixed in too rigid a mould," he told a military engi- neers society in Philadelphia.

The general estimated it would take 10 years before the first young officers, commissioned direct from school, would head research and de- velopment staffs of major war de- partment agencies.

General Aurand revealed that he had initiated a directive setting the plan in motion and forwarded it to the office of Gen. Dwight D. Eisen- hower.

He said the directive, if approved, would provide for the annual intake of approximately 50 scientists and engineers.

The research director explained that after two years of training with troops, the new corpsmen would be "farmed out" to technical schools to take masters and doctors degrees.

"Now there ought to be talks about a Japanese treaty by Sepem- ber or October or may be even in August."

Another official declared there is a growing belief that the prob- lems of exacting reparations from Japan and allowing her to re-en- ter world trade cannot be "finally solv- ed" without a peace treaty.

Eight-Year-Old Saves Life Of Small Sister

Training received in school helped an eight-year-old lad save the life of his three-year-old sister early this week.

The parents of Louie Gargasz, Mr. and Mrs. John Gargasz, Jr., were remodeling their home near Volant when, in burning some waste paper, their three-year-old daughter Joanne got too close to the fire and her clothing began to flame.

The young child started down through the field running, with her brother after her. The boy put her on the ground and beat out the flames with his hands. Although Joanne was badly burned around the knee and right hand her life was spared through the alertness of her brother Louie.

Upon questioning, young Louie at- tributed his level headedness to the training he had received in school on how to act in times of fire.

Scores Variance Of Charges Made In State Hospitals

Great Difference For Similar Services Says West Penn Hospital Official

PITTSBURGH, April 25.—(INS)—N. J. Sepp, assistant superintendent of West Penn hospital in Pittsburgh, Thursday attacked "glaring differentials" in charges for similar services in Pennsylvania hospitals. Sepp, speaking before the Hospital Association of Pennsylvania convention in Pittsburgh, said: "For laboratory services, the charges for a darkfield examination range from a high of $10 to a low of $1; for blood typing from a high of $10 to a low of 50 cents; for sugar tolerance test, from a high of $20 to $1."

As another example, he cited that X-ray treatments on the same spot of the body range from $50 to $250. Sepp said: "In my opinion, the traditional practice of down-grading charges because of the inability of the patient to pay the regular charges is psychologically unsound and subject to erroneous interpretation by the public."

His report came after study of 38 Pennsylvania hospitals, and embracing the entire charge structure of 300 items of service.

MADE THIS YEAR
DETROIT, April 25.—Automobile industry's assembly lines, which required eight months to produce their first 1,000,000 passenger cars in 1946, turned this year in little less than 16 weeks.

Factories are aiming at another 1,000,000 passenger vehicles before July 1, they will realize that objective barring serious worsening of supply situation or major labor difficulties. Meanwhile truck production is proceeding at highest peacetime rate in industry's history.

Up until and including today the factories in U. S. so far this year have assembled approximately 1,060,000 passenger cars and 410,000 commercial units.

Cats were believed sacred by the Egyptians and were embalmed and entombed after death.

IRONING AIDS FOR SUMMER WASHABLES

Homemakers, do you think of saving your ironing when you make or buy your summer dresses or blouses? Many open-on-fashions in either garment can be made in washable fabrics.

The classic button front dress is a good example of a save-yourself garment. If it should have kimono sleeves, so much the better. The sidetrack dress is equally easy to toss over the ironing board. If making a separate skirt, one with a lapped front would be a time saver. Blouses which snap under the arm and can be opened out into a straight piece will solve the problem of the woman devoted to suits and crisp blouses. These blouses have cap sleeves, the very short kimono type, and ironing them is simplicity itself.

Buttons which go through the armpits and come out whole are musts for washables. Plastic buttons which melt if the iron touches them are short-lived. Pearl and glass buttons and some composition ones are washable.

They may sometimes take the place of buttons as fastenings. Plain, washable trimmings, stitched bands, and facings lend themselves to speedy ironing. For easier care, slip cover shoulder pads which are snapped in and out.

Bessemer Hi Juniors Present Play 'Tish'

In the Bessemer high school auditorium on Thursday evening a large audience roared with laughter as they witnessed the play entitled "Tish" by Mary Roberts Rhinart. The play was presented by the junior class of the high school, under the direction of Miss Esther Landman of the high school faculty. The presentation was built around the escapades of "Tish", a maiden lady, and her two bosom companions, Aggie and "Lizzie". "Tish" dragged her friends into many unusual and embarrassing situations, which brought hilarious responses from the audience. The cast was well selected and the play was quite a success.

On Monday at 12:15 p. m. the play will again be presented in the auditorium of Mahoning township school at Hillsville. Corsages were presented to Miss Esther Landman, director, and Miss Mary Shaddick, who acted as business manager.

Three-Alarm Fire In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, April 25.—(INS)—A three-alarm fire which required 40 pieces of apparatus was brought under control early today after wrecking an historic winding mill in Germantown.

Flames burst out the mill of D. F. Waters & Sons dye works in less than an hour in a congested section choked with parked automobiles and a crowd of 5,000 spectators.

Firemen estimated damage to the building, apart from machinery at $50,000. The firm's founder was the father of Charles A. Waters, prothonotary of the State Supreme Court.

NEW CAR BUYER ACTS THE SAME AWAY FROM HOME

FRANKFURT — Luxury-hungry Americans who pay fabulous prices for private automobiles in Germany were made a target of GI criticism for having lost "all sense of value". The army newspaper, Occupation Chronicle, said as much as 300 per cent above original purchase prices was being offered for anything with four wheels by soldiers and war department civilians.

Citing examples, the newspaper said a late model American car, selling for about $1500 in the United States, was auctioned to an eager buyer for $4000. Prices as high as $2000 are offered for second hand and third hand cars.

Owners who paid perhaps $400 for a jeep a year ago and now are going home, "sit by watching as prospective buyers fall over themselves boosting offers to inflationary heights," the paper added.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS
CHICAGO.—(INS)—The most familiar phrase to a detective or policeman is "who me?" Nine out of ten times these two words greet the cop when he makes an arrest, according to Detective Martin Tully.

Presbyterial Meets At Ellwood Church

Shenango Presbyterial Has Spring Session Thursday In First Presbyterian Church

Seventy-second spring Presbyterial of Shenango was held Thursday in the First Presbyterian church, Ellwood City. After a noon recess, the afternoon session began at 1:15 o'clock. A Young People's Fellowship dinner and rally were features of the evening.

Mrs. E. E. Moon, president, was in charge of the morning assembly, when a worship service was conducted by Mrs. John M. Fife. Creations were given by the women by Mrs. O. R. Stang of the host church. Following a talk by Miss Madeline Johnson, field director of Christian Education, Cincinnati, officers were elected.

Officers named are: president, Mrs. E. E. Moon; vice-president of New Castle district, Mrs. Benjamin Jenkins; vice-president of New Wilmington district, Mrs. William Drake; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Clare Friday; and assistant corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. R. Downing. Secretaries follow: literature, Mrs. W. L. Wishart; mission, Mrs. Grace Benford; national missions work, Mrs. H. W. Marshall; stewardship and spiritual life, Mrs. Ralph Throop; education and action, Mrs. J. J. McIlwaine; young people and seniors, Mrs. John M. Fife; program material, Mrs. George Englehardt; and membership, Mrs. Jesse Carr. Mrs. Paul Osborne was chosen as a member of the nominating committee.

Mrs. Moon presided at the afternoon assembly which began with organ music by Mrs. Roy Bham. Meditation from national council was given by Mrs. Clifford M. Probst. After a talk by Miss Antoinette Chubb, Weston Community Center, Ky., Mrs. Arthur C. Brown, assistant treasurer, gave an outstanding report. This is interesting since Shenango Presbyterial more than reached its goal of money for the year, including both national and foreign funds.

Mrs. C. N. Moore offered prayer when the offering was received later. Mrs. William Mitchell pleased with a vocal solo. Mrs. John McNeill reported for the courtesy committee, while Mrs. Charles Nelson of the place committee announced that next spring's meeting will take place in Westfield Presbyterian church.

At 6:30 o'clock Roy McLean, president, was in charge of the Westminster Fellowship assembly and dinner. Devotions were conducted by youth of Slippery Rock Presbyterian church. Later Miss Johnson spoke.

Second U. P. Will Elect More Elders

As an outgrowth of the yearly congregational meeting of Second U. P. church, the session has called for a congregational assembly to be conducted Sunday, May 4, after morning worship service.

Purpose of the gathering will be to elect additional elders to the present board which numbers 12. J. Calvin Rose, moderator, and Carl R. Baldwin, clerk of session, will preside at the special assembly.

In Japan a marriage ceremony consists of passing a cup of wine 18 times between the bride and bridegroom.

Choir
William Billings has the distinction of being America's leading 18th century composer and was composer of the earliest choral music to be written in this country. His music is at once devoutly religious and intensely American.

It was a custom for people of early New England to declare a fast day to praise the Almighty for keeping them through the severe winters. "Be Glad Then America" was written for such an occasion.

William Dawson, a Negro composer, has caught the spirit of religious expression of people of his race in the three spirituals, "Soon Ah Will Be Done," "There is a Balm in Gilead," and "Ain't That Good News?"

New AAF Landing Gear Will Speed Air Operations

Tractor-Type Gear Enables
Heavy Bombers To Set Down On Any Terrain

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U. S. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 25—A new age in airpower is just around the corner. And when it comes, don't be surprised if some of the latest air force bombers are landing in yonder back pasture.

They won't be out of gas or even crash-landing. They'll just be pausing a moment or two for picnic on a cross-country flight.

For the Army Air Forces is conducting highly successful experiments on aircraft equipped exclusively with tractor landing gear—a revolutionary technique which enables heavy bombers to land in fields, pastures, mudholes, sand or even once dreaded brush country.

The day of super-sensitive landing gears, and airdromes which had to be "just so" are on the way out. The extreme flexibility of the air forces is seeking gives fresh promise of being well on the way in.

What it foreshadows for military operations is almost beyond imagination: no longer will projected airborne army plans be held back by lack of airdromes in remote areas; no longer will airplanes have to count on far-forward engineers to allow them to land and operate from hitherto impossible sectors.

And it's all because of a comparatively innocuous looking piece of landing equipment.

Already Equipped

The air forces' new troop carrier, the Fairchild C-82 Packet, already is being equipped with gear while tests have been conducted at Wright Field, Ohio, on the Douglas A-20 attack bomber employing the strange undercarriage.

The tests have proven the designers' claims and the Packet manufacturers say the horizons are limitless. In effect, the caterpillar type track commonly used on tractors and tanks has simply been applied to the airplane.

A continuous smooth outer surfaced belt rolling on and supported by "bogies" assembled into a landing gear are the whole secret of the new gear's success.

First tests at Wright Field were tried in soft mud and loose sand. Any normal airplane of any even relatively light weight would have bogged down hopelessly.

Not so the tractor-equipped A-20. With fairly heavy loading it taxied speedily through the morass, ran up its engines in soft sand and then took off in approximately 1,100 feet of similar mud-sand conditions.

Engineers Amazed

Engineers rubbed their eyes with frank amazement and admitted that here was a design that would have a sweeping effect on airplanes engaged in every phase of modern American living.

What the gear portends for the Army Air Forces' very heavy bombardment equipment is not yet known. The tremendous weight of the huge new bombers may prove too much even for the new innovation. But if it should prove successful, it could alter the whole complex future of airdrome construction throughout the world.

As one air engineer said: "a million dollars invested in this gear today might save five time that figure in future airdrome construction."

Similarly, engineers hold that the new design should have top priority because it represents the only solution to making airborne armies both mobile and largely self-supporting. They are expected to open a whole new vista of air possibilities ranging from mail deliveries in remote farm areas up to a sweeping panorama of military potentialities.

Seeks To Quash Indictment For Draft Dodging

PITTSBURGH, April 25—(INS)—Frank J. Valenti, alleged Pittsburgh racketeer, today sought to quash an indictment against him for draft dodging returned last month in federal court at Erie.

Charles J. Margiotti, his counsel, filed a motion to dismiss the indictment, asserting the four counts do not state sufficient facts to constitute an offense against the United States.

HOT SPOT

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—(INS)—The Brown Derby night club in Las Vegas has lived up to its slogan "The Hottest Place in Town." It burned to the ground.

The cultivation of wheat antedates history. Most ancient monuments show by inscription that it was already domesticated at a very early period. It was cultivated early in the Stone Age.

Price Cuts In Cleveland Area

Two Business Places Go Along With
So-Called 'Newburyport
Plan'

CLEVELAND, April 25—(INS)—Price cuts were effected today by two Cleveland area business places in line with the so-called "Newburyport plan" to reduce the cost of living.

The Boston department store, largest retailer in suburban Berea, announced a 10 per cent slice off all merchandise. General Manager Henry W. Liff said he would attempt to keep the drop in force for 10 days and at the same time get suppliers to reduce prices.

Gasoline went down a cent a gallon and oil two cents a quart at A's Gulf gas station in Berea. Proprietor Alfred Winters also cut the price of accessories 10 per cent.

Another cut appeared possible with the decision of President John H. Breisch of the Raymond corporation in Cleveland to ask the board of directors Saturday to authorize a 10 per cent price slash.

The company manufactures machine tools and also does consulting engineering work.

Breisch said of the move, "I think all companies ought to be willing to give lower prices a whirl for two or three weeks, anyway."

Oleomargarine Sales Regulation Measure Will Receive Support

HARRISBURG, April 25—(INS)—Senate Republican leaders today intended to give a green light to legislation retaining regulation of oleomargarine sales despite strong opposition from grocers.

A spokesman for the Senate Agriculture Committee said a measure introduced by Sen. Weldon B. Heyburn (R) Delaware to impose five dollar annual retailing fees would be pushed through the Upper Chamber with the approval of the State Agriculture Department.

House Majority Leader Herbert P. Sorensen said the lower chamber likely would "go along" on the bill. The department believes there was a need for supervision of margarine traffic beyond that provided under the pure food laws.

The legislation was assailed by the Pennsylvania Food and Trade Committee on margarine distribution, representing 25,000 grocers.

Rent Control Extension Bill Given Support

WASHINGTON, April 25—(INS)—The fading chances of any flat across-the-board rent increase this year were given a knockout blow by the House Banking and Currency Committee today.

The committee reported a rent control bill that would continue present limitations until Dec. 31, 1947. The Senate Banking and Currency Committee reported a bill extending controls until next Feb. 29 some time ago.

The House bill also removes all controls on building materials except in special cases. The committee ruled that in case of shortages, planners of buildings for amusement and recreational use must obtain permits before purchasing materials for construction.

The committee bill also would force the President to place rent and housing control authority in "any permanent agency" he might name.

This would eliminate Housing Administrator Frank Creedon, appointed by President Truman at rent czar, from a position of authority unless Creedon should be named to the permanent agency designated.

Rep. Wolcott (R) Mich., Chairman of the Banking and Currency Committee, said that he hoped to see rapid action on the bill. He said he expected to get it on the House floor next Wednesday, which would make it follow immediately after the 350 million dollar foreign relief legislation.

ST. LOUIS MAIL MAN BLOWS HIS WHISTLE

ST. LOUIS—Most mail carriers long since have discarded whistles—but Benny Bruemmer still carries his, and uses it.

Bruemmer has delivered mail for 17 years over the same south St. Louis route. But his job is neither mechanical nor impersonal. Three or four times in every block when he pauses to blow the whistle, housewives pop out to get their mail.

"It's because I get to see my people that I keep that whistle," Bruemmer explained. "To most of the carriers their folks must be just names on envelopes. But to me they're real people."

Check For $5,000 Expected To Come Up In May Trial

WASHINGTON, April 25—(INS)—A $5,000 check ex-Congressman Andrew J. May (D) Ky., is alleged to have received for "services" rendered the Garsson munitions company.

bine is expected to come up today at the May-Garsson conspiracy trial.

The check figures importantly in the government's case against May, Henry and Murray Garsson and Joseph Freeman, a Garsson employee.

In the special grand jury indictment under which they are being tried, it is charged that on August 22, 1944, Murray Garsson gave it to the former house military affairs committee chairman.

It is further charged that May, or his representative, took the check to the National Bank of Washington, drew $1,000 of it in cash and deposited the rest to his personal account.

The government contends that the $5,000 and payments made through the Cumberland Lumber company of Prestonburg, Ky., went to make up the $53,000 it is charged May received for helping the Garssons get war contracts.

The name Charles means "man".

Great Difference For Similar Services Says West Penn Hospital Official

PITTSBURGH, April 25.—(INS)—N. J. Sepp, assistant superintendent of West Penn hospital in Pittsburgh, Thursday attacked "glaring differentials" in charges for similar services in Pennsylvania hospitals. Sepp, speaking before the Hospital Association of Pennsylvania convention in Pittsburgh, said: "For laboratory services, the charges for a darkfield examination range from a high of $10 to a low of $1; for blood typing from a high of $10 to a low of $3; for sugar tolerance test, from a high of $20 to $1."

As another example, he cited that X-ray treatments on the same spot of the body range from $50 to $250. Sepp said:

"In my opinion, the traditional practice of down-grading charges because of the inability of the patient to pay the regular charges is psychologically unsound and subject to erroneous interpretation by the public."

His report came after study of 26 Pennsylvania hospitals, and embracing the entire charge structure of 300 items of service.

IRONING AIDS FOR SUMMER WASHABLES

Homemakers, do you think of saving your ironing when you make or buy your summer dresses or blouses? Many open-out fashions in either garment can be made in washable fabrics.

The classic button front dress is a good example of a save-yourself garment. If it should have kimono sleeves, so much the better. The side-wrap dress is equally easy to toss over the ironing board. If making a separate skirt one with a lapped front would be a time saver.

Blouses which snap under the arm and can be opened out into a straight piece will solve the problem of the woman devoted to suits and crisp blouses. These blouses have cap sleeves, the very short kimono type, and ironing them is simplicity itself.

Buttons which go through the aids and come out whole are musts for washables. Plastic buttons which melt if the iron touches them are short-lived. Pearl and glass buttons and some composition ones are washable.

Ties may sometimes take the place of buttons as fastenings. Flat, washable blimmings, stitched bands, and fastenings lend themselves to speedy ironing. For easier care, slip cover shoulder pads which are snapped in and out.

Bessemer Hi Juniors Present Play 'Tish'

In the Bessemer high school auditorium on Thursday evening a large audience roared with laughter as they witnessed the play entitled "Tish" by Mary Roberts Rhinehart.

The play was presented by the junior class of the high school, under the direction of Miss Esther Landman of the high school faculty. The presentation was built around the escapades of "Tish," a maiden lady, and her two bosom companions, "Aggie" and "Lizzie." "Tish" dragged her friends into many unusual and embarrassing situations, which brought hilarious responses from the audience. The cast was well selected and the play was quite a success.

On Monday at 12:15 p. m. the play will again be presented in the auditorium of Mahoning township school at Hillsville. Corsages were presented to Miss Esther Landman, director, and Miss Mary Shadick, who acted as business manager.

Three-Alarm Fire In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, April 25.—(INS)—A three-alarm fire which required 40 pieces of apparatus was brought under control early today after wrecking an historic window mill in Germantown.

Flames burst out the mill of D. F. Waters & Sons dye works in less than an hour in a congested section choked with parked automobiles and a crowd of 5,000 spectators.

Firemen estimated damage to the building, apart from machinery at $50,000. The firm's founder was the father of Charles A. Waters, prothonotary of the State Supreme Court.

NEW CAR BUYER ACTS THE SAME AWAY FROM HOME

FRANKFURT — Luxury-hungry Americans who pay fabulous prices for private automobiles in Germany were made a target of GI criticism for having lost "all sense of value".

The army newspaper, Occupation Chronicle, said as much as 300 per cent above original purchase prices was being offered for anything with four wheels by soldiers and war department civilians.

Citing examples, the newspaper said a late model American car, selling for about $1500 in the United States, was auctioned to an eager buyer for $4000. Prices as high as $2000 are offered for second hand and third hand jeeps.

Owners who paid perhaps $400 for a jeep a year ago and now are going home, "sit by watching as prospective buyers fall over themselves boosting, offers to inflationary heights," the paper added.

Charge Millions In Taxes Dodged

Washington Paper Charges New York 'Racket King' Headed Scheme To Dodge Taxes

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(INS)—The Washington Times-Herald in a copyright story said today that Frank Costello, powerful New York "racket king" and Tammany power, "was named as the secret boss of a fantastic wartime manufacturing network that dodged millions of dollars in taxes by operating as a 'non-profit research organization.'"

The page one article said "a new war-contract scandal destined to stagger official Washington with the enormity of its ramifications was revealed."

Maritime Commission Chairman William W. Smith was quoted in the article as saying that Costello, whom he reportedly described as "the slot machine king", was "the undercover head of the cartel's parent organization," which is located in the nation's capital.

NEW YORK, April 25.—(INS)—Frank Costello, alleged gambling king and Tammany Hall politician said today he had no connection with the Aero-Dynamics Research Corporation.

Costello said: "This is a most fabulous and fantastic story. I never heard of the concern."

"In the past year I've been accused of every possible crime under the sun. First it was narcotics, then penicillin and now this. What happened to those yarns? A few politicians got publicity."

PHILIPPINE COPRA EXPORTS ARE LARGE

MANILA, April 25.—Philippine copra exports for first quarter of 1947 totaled 106,450,881 kilos, Maximino Kalaw, president of government-owned National Coconut Corp., announced today. An additional 18,636,929 kilos left the islands in first 15 days of April. A kilo approximates 2.2 pounds.

Chief shipments included U. S., 74,989,480 kilos; United Kingdom, 5,892,848; France, 4,985,500; and Canada, 4,358,111. Other important buyers were Italy, Norway, Sweden, Hong Kong and The Netherlands.

First months of year are generally too dry for maximum coconut growth. Increased exports are forecast for succeeding quarters.

Rebellious Strikers May Lose Charter

PITTSBURGH, April 25.—(INS)—Rebellious strikers at the Glassport plant of the Copperweld Steel Co., today faced possible revocation of their CIO-United Steelworkers charter unless they return to work.

About 1100 workers walked out Tuesday when seven local officers were suspended by the company for absenteeism.

Their suspension came when the company had notified employees to return to work after they had ended a previous strike which was ended at insistence of Philip Murray, president of USW.

The seven claimed they were absent on union business in McKeesport.

USW-Vice President James G. Thummes warned the strikers, members of Local 1407, yesterday of possible loss of their charter. Local President Stephen Poller replied in a telegram that 600 of the strikers, in a meeting, had voted to "uphold their local leaders."

FAMOUS NAMESAKES

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—(INS)—The Penn State baseball team this spring is graced by the namesakes of two great major leaguers. Ray (Whitley) Kuroski, brother of George of the St. Louis Cardinals, and George Earnshaw, Jr., son of the famous hurler of a couple of decades ago, are prospective regulars.

WHO HAS THE VALUES?

Now that people insist on getting their money's worth again, it's amazing to see how many have suddenly become great value-givers.

Fortunately, people have long memories. Not only do they remember who for years kept quality up and prices down, but they also know the difference between claims and performance.

Let's look at the record! After seven years of rising prices, our All-Wool Standard Quality suits and topcoats are still $27.50; and our Super Quality suits and topcoats can still be bought for as little as $32.50—and in both lines materials and workmanship are as good as ever . . .

Who has the Values? You be the judge!

RUBBER SPRINGS

FORECAST FOR CAR

AKRON, O.—Driving with a glass of water balanced on the dashboard may not induce a driver to do more traveling, but that illustrates the kind of "cushioned" ride automotive engineers promise tomorrow's motorist.

Use of rubber springs in experimental cars has shown that rubber absorbs much more energy than

The ability of rubber to deform under loads and to bounce back to its original form when the load is removed makes possible this cushioned ride, he said.

A 1,000-mile natural gas pipe line is planned by the government of Argentina.

Gargasz Flying
Service Is Given
State Franchise

HARRISBURG, April 25—(INS)—The Public Utility Commission today granted the Gargasz Flying Service a two year franchise to charter passengers and freight between the New Castle airport and landing fields in Pennsylvania. The service planned to operate 10 airplanes, the commission reported. The operator was identified as Joseph Gargasz, a war-time pilot instructor.

Rockets were used as a military weapon as early as 1792 in India.

New AAF Landing
Gear Will Speed
Air OperationsTractor-Type Gear Enables
Heavy Bombers To Set
Down On Any TerrainBy LEE VAN ATTA
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 25—A new age in airpower is just around the corner. And when it comes, don't be surprised if some of the latest air force bombers are landing in your back pasture.

They won't be out of gas or even crash-landing. They'll just be pausing a moment or two for picnic on a cross-country flight.

For the Army Air Forces is conducting highly successful experiments on aircraft equipped exclusively with tractor landing gear—a revolutionary technique which enables heavy bombers to land in fields, pastures, mudholes, sand or even once dreaded brush country.

The day of super-sensitive landing gears, and airplanes which had to be "just on the way out. The extreme flexibility of the air forces is seeking gives fresh promise of being well on the way in.

What it foreshadows for military operations is almost beyond imagination: no longer will projected airborne army plans be held back by lack of airfields in remote areas; no longer will airplanes have to count on far-forward engineers to allow them to land and operate from hitherto impossible sectors.

And it's all because of a comparatively innocuous looking piece of landing equipment.

Already Equipped
The air forces' new troop carrier, the Fairchild C-82 Packet, already is being equipped with gear while tests have been conducted at Wright Field, Ohio, on the Douglas A-20 attack bomber employing the strange undercarriage.

The tests have proven the designers' claims and the Packet manufacturers say the horizons are limitless. In effect, the caterpillar type track commonly used on tractors and tanks has simply been applied to the airplane.

A continuous smooth outer surfaced belt rolling on and supported by "bogies" assembled into a landing gear are the whole secret of the new gear's success.

First tests at Wright Field were tried in soft mud and loose sand. Any normal airplane of any even relatively light weight would have bogged down hopelessly.

Not so the tractor-equipped A-20. With fairly heavy loading it taxied speedily through the morass, ran up its engines in soft sand and then took off in approximately 1,100 ft. of similar mud-sand conditions.

Engineers Amazed
Engineers rubbed their eyes with frank amazement and admitted that here was a design that would have a sweeping effect on airplanes engaged in every phase of modern American living.

What the gear portends for the Army Air Forces' very heavy bombardment equipment is not yet known. The tremendous weight of the huge new bombers may prove too much even for the new innovation. But if it should prove successful, it could alter the whole complex future of air-drome construction throughout the world.

As one air engineer said: "a million dollars invested in this gear today might save five times that figure in future air-drome construction."

Similarly, engineers hold that the new design should have top priority because it represents the only solution in making airborne armies both mobile and largely self-supporting.

They are expected to open a whole new vista of air possibilities ranging from mail deliveries in remote farm areas up to a sweeping panorama of military potentialities.

Indictment For Draft Dodging

PITTSBURGH, April 25—(INS)—Frank J. Valenti, alleged Pittsburgh racketeer, today sought to quash an indictment against him for draft dodging returned last month in federal court at Erie.

Charles J. Margiotti, his counsel, filed a motion to dismiss the indictment, asserting the four counts do not state sufficient facts to constitute an offense against the United States.

HOT SPOT
LAS VEGAS, Nev.—(INS)—The Brown Derby night club in Las Vegas has lived up to its slogan "The Hottest Place in Town." It burned to the ground.

The cultivation of wheat antedates history. Most ancient monuments show by inscription that it was already domesticated at a very early period. It was cultivated early in the Stone Age.

Price Cuts In Cleveland AreaTwo Business Places Go Along With
So-Called 'Newburyport
Plan'

CLEVELAND, April 25—(INS)—Price cuts were effected today by two Cleveland area business places in line with the so-called "Newburyport plan" to reduce the cost of living.

The Boston department store, largest retailer in suburban Berea, announced a 10 per cent slice off all merchandise. General Manager Henry W. Liff said he would attempt to keep the drop in force for 10 days and at the same time get suppliers to reduce prices.

Gasoline went down a cent a gallon and oil two cents a quart at Al's Gulf gas station in Berea. Proprietor Alfred Winters also cut the price of accessories 10 per cent.

Another cut appeared possible with the decision of President John H. Breisch of the Raymond corporation in Cleveland to ask the board of directors Saturday to authorize a 10 per cent price slash.

The company manufactures machine tools and also does consulting engineering work. Breisch said of the move, "I think all companies ought to be willing to give lower prices a whirl for two or three weeks, anyway."

Oleomargarine Sales
Regulation Measure
Will Receive Support

HARRISBURG, April 25—(INS)—Senate Republican leaders today indicated to give a green light to legislation retaining regulation of oleomargarine sales despite strong opposition from grocers.

A spokesman for the Senate Agriculture Committee said a measure introduced by Sen. Weldon B. Heyburn (R) Delaware to impose five dollar annual retailing fees would be pushed through the Upper Chamber with the approval of the State Agriculture Department.

House Majority Leader Herbert P. Sore said the lower chamber likely would "go along" on the bill. The department believes there was a need for supervision of margarine traffic beyond that provided under the pure food laws.

The legislation was assailed by the Pennsylvania Food and Trade Committee on margarine distribution, representing 25,000 grocers.

Rent Control
Extension Bill
Given Support

WASHINGTON, April 25—(INS)—The fading chances of any flat across-the-board rent increase this year were given a knockout blow by the House Banking and Currency Committee today.

The committee reported a rent control bill that would continue present limitations until Dec. 31, 1947. The Senate Banking and Currency Committee reported a bill extending controls until next Feb. 29 some time ago.

The House bill also removes all controls on building materials except in special cases. The committee ruled that in case of shortages, planners of buildings for apartment and recreational use must obtain permits before purchasing materials for construction.

The committee bill also would force the President to place rent and housing control authority in "any permanent agency" he might name.

This would eliminate Housing Administrator Frank C. Reed, appointed by President Truman as rent czar from a position of authority unless Credo should be named to the permanent agency designated.

Rep. Wolcott (R) Mich., Chairman of the Banking and Currency Committee, said that he hoped to see rapid action on the bill. He said he expected to get it on the House floor next Wednesday, which would make it follow immediately after the 350 million dollar foreign relief legislation.

ST. LOUIS MAIL MAN
BLOWS HIS WHISTLE

ST. LOUIS—Most mail carriers long since have discarded whistles—but Benny Bruemmer still carries his, and uses it.

Bruemmer has delivered mail for 17 years over the same south St. Louis route. But his job is neither mechanical nor impersonal. Three or four times in every block when he pauses to blow the whistle, housewives pop out to get their mail.

"It's because I got to see my people that I keep that whistle," Bruemmer explained. "To most of the carriers their folks must be just names on envelopes. But to me they're real people."

Check For $5,000
Expected To Come Up In May Trial

WASHINGTON, April 25—(INS)—A $5,000 check ex-Congressman Andrew J. May (D) Ky., is alleged to have received for "services" rendered the Garsson munitions company.

The check figures importantly in the government's case against May, Henry and Murray Garsson and Joseph Freeman, a Garsson employee.

In the special grand jury indictment under which they are being tried, it is charged that on August 22, 1944, Murray Garsson gave it to the former house military affairs committee chairman.

It is further charged that May, or his representative, took the check to the National Bank of Washington, drew $1,000 of it in cash and deposited the rest to his personal account.

The government contends that the $5,000 and payments made through the Cumberland Lumber company of Prestonburg, Ky., went to make up the $53,000 it is charged May received for helping the Garssons get war contracts.

Charge Millions In Taxes Dodged

Washington Paper Charges New York 'Racket King' Headed Scheme To Dodge Taxes

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(INS)—The Washington Times-Herald in a copyright story said today that Frank Costello, powerful New York "racket king" and Tammany power, "was named as the secret boss of a fantastic wartime manufacturing network that dodged millions of dollars in taxes by operating as a 'non-profit' research organization."

The page one article said "a new war-contract scandal destined to stagger official Washington with the enormity of its ramifications was revealed."

Maritime Commission Chairman William W. Smith was quoted in the article as saying that Costello, whom he reportedly described as "the slot machine king" was "the undercover head of the racket's parent organization," which is located in the nation's capital.

Costello said:

"This is a most fabulous and fantastic story. I never heard of the concern."

"In the past year I've been accused of every possible crime under the sun. First it was narcotics, then penicillin and now this. What happened to those yarns? A few politicians got publicity."

PHILIPPINE COPRA EXPORTS ARE LARGE

MANILA, April 25.—Philippine copra exports for first quarter of 1947 totaled 105,450,881 kilos, Maximino Kalaw, president of government-owned National Coconut Corp., announced today. An additional 18,636,929 kilos left the islands in first 15 days of April. A kilo approximately 2.2 pounds.

Chief shipments included U. S. 74,989,480 kilos; United Kingdom, 5,392,948; France, 4,995,600; and Canada, 4,859,111. Other important buyers were Italy, Norway, Sweden, Hong Kong and The Netherlands.

First months of year are generally too dry for maximum coconut growth. Increased exports are forecast for succeeding quarters.

Rebellious Strikers May Lose Charter

PITTSBURGH, April 25.—(INS)—Rebellious strikers at the Glassport plant of the Copperweld Steel Co., today faced possible revocation of their CIO-United Steelworkers charter unless they return to work. About 1100 workers walked out Tuesday when seven local officers were suspended by the company for absenteeism.

Their suspension came when the company had notified employees to return to work after they had ended a previous strike which was ended at insistence of Philip Murray, president of USW.

The seven claimed they were absent on union business in McKeesport.

USW-Vice President James G. Thimmes warned the strikers, members of Local 1407, yesterday of possible loss of their charter. Local President Stephen Polier replied in a telegram that 600 of the strikers, in a meeting, had voted to "uphold their local leaders."

FAMOUS NAMESAKES

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—(INS)—The Penn State baseball team this spring is graced by the namesakes of two great major leaguers, Ray (Whitney) Kurovski, brother of George of the St. Louis Cardinals, and George Barnshaw, Jr., son of the famous hurler of a couple of decades ago, are prospective regulars.

RUBBER SPRINGS

FORECAST FOR CAR

AKRON, O.—Driving with a glass of water balanced on the dashboard may not induce a driver to do more traveling, but that illustrates the kind of "cushioned" ride automotive engineers promise tomorrow's motorists.

Use of rubber springs in experimental cars has shown that rubber absorbs much more energy than steel, gives a softer ride and takes most of the jolts out of a bumpy road, according to A. S. Krotz, B. F. Goodrich engineer.

The ability of rubber to deform under loads and to bounce back to its original form when the load is removed makes possible this cushioned ride, he said.

A 1,000-mile natural gas pipe line is planned by the government of Argentina.

WHO HAS THE VALUES?

Now that people insist on getting their money's worth again, it's amazing to see how many have suddenly become great value-givers.

Fortunately, people have long memories. Not only do they remember who for years kept quality up and prices down, but they also know the difference between claims and performance.

Let's look at the record! After seven years of rising prices, our All-Wool Standard Quality suits and topcoats are still $27.50; and our Super Quality suits and topcoats can still be bought for as little as $32.50—and in both lines materials and workmanship are as good as ever... Who has the Values? You be the judge!

Williams After Bob Montgomery

NBA Lightweight Champion Seeks
To Entice Philadelphia Bob
Into Bout

COLUMBUS, O., April 25.—(INS)—Panther-like Ike Williams of Trenton, N. J., recognized NBA world lightweight champion, insisted today that he would like nothing better than a meeting with Bob Montgomery, kingpin in New York and sundry other affiliated points.

"I'm afraid of no man in my weight class," Williams asserted flatly as he tuned up for a ten-rounder tonight with Willie Russell of Columbus at the Fairgrounds Coliseum in the Ohio capital.

Williams added that Montgomery's handlers "won't let him in the same building, let alone the same ring with me."

The NBA champion was kayoed by Montgomery in 1944. He argues, however, that Montgomery caught him at the start of his career and that another bout would be a different story.

Jock Sutherland, on a visit to the Penn State football camp, chided Coach Bob Higgins for his experiments with the T-formation.

Nobody has ever explained the psychology of the opposing system employed by football coaches and baseball managers, but it looks as though it is easy enough to figure out on paper.

Ralph Mitterling has a very welcome addition to the Pitt pitching staff in Howard Scott, a big law student. Scott was on the freshman squad before entering service in 1942. He served with the 71st Division in the ETO.

Pitching Battles Feature American League Games Thursday

Junior League Hurlers Really Bearing Down

Pitching In National League Just Opposite, Homers Are Piling Up

CHICAGO CUBS TRIM PIRATES

By LES CONKLIN (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

New York, April 25.—Pitchers are still away ahead of the hitters in the American League, while the National League has taken over the junior circuit's perennial role as a home run-hitting loop.

Five of the last seven no-hitters in the majors were achieved before May 15, and the first one of the current campaign may pop up any day. Speed ball hurlers like Bob Feller and Hal Gregg have been knocking at the door, and almost every day some pitcher turns in a low-hit game.

In the American League yesterday, for instance, five of the six starting pitchers were really bearing down.

Red Sox Win

Tex Hughson of the Red Sox allowed only two hits and Frank Shea yielded but three as Boston beat the Yankees 1 to 0. Rookie Shea picked a tough spot to get a three-hitter out of his system, but his brilliant performance gives the Yankees a total of five hurlers in top shape.

Jack Kramer of the St. Louis Browns held the Detroit Tigers to three hits and beat them 6 to 1. Don Black of Cleveland won a 1-0 duel from Johnny Rippey of the White Sox. Black allowed only four hits and Rippey but five, but one of the latter was a homer by Pat Seery which won the game.

Indians-Yanks Tied

Cleveland vaulted to a first-place tie with the Yankees, while the White Sox dropped to fourth and the Red Sox advanced to third. Getting back to the home run department, National Leaguers have hit 55 circuit clouts this season. That is double their output at this stage of the campaign last year.

Mize Hits Three

Big John Mize of the New York Giants, who usually is a slow starter, tied Eddie Miller of the Reds for home-run honors. Each has five. Mize hit three in succession yesterday—the third time in his career he has performed that feat—as the Giants lost a 14 to 5 slugfest to the Braves.

A homer by Phil Cavarretta featured Chicago's 6-to-5 victory over the league-leading Pirates. "Chief" Walker knocked in both runs and Ralph Branca did most of the pitching as Brooklyn knocked over the Phillies again, 2 to 0. This victory put the Dodgers only half a game behind Pittsburgh.

Other teams were idle. Cream of material in the major leagues is now being developed through the program of the National Amateur Athletic Union, it is revealed in the latest edition of the National Baseball Annual.

New Castle In Ambridge Meet

Coach Bill Klee Taking Squad To Ambridge Saturday For Ninth Annual Event

Head Track Coach William Klee will take a strong squad of New Castle High track stars to Ambridge Saturday for the running of the ninth annual Relay Carnival staged by the WPIAL.

Mt. Lebanon winner of the relays for five straight years is looking for a repeat win tomorrow. There are 27 schools entered, and 696 young athletes will compete.

It is a firm belief that New Castle's well balanced team will give the "Mounties" the most trouble, despite the fact that Mt. Lebanon hung a defeat on New Castle in a dual meet at Mt. Lebanon last Tuesday by a slim margin.

Meadville Here Tuesday
The field events are slated to get under way at noon with the track stars starting to perform at 1 o'clock. New Castle's great mile and half-mile relay teams are expected to make a fine showing.

Meadville High will be at the stadium next Tuesday for a dual meet.

Yun Bok Su, who came by airplane from Seoul, Korea, at the best of American occupational troops, won the 51st annual Boston Athletic Association marathon in record time.

Shenango High Athletes Hear Douglass Speak

New Castle High Basketball Coach Delivers Stirring Talk, Sixty Attend Banquet

NAHAS PASSES OUT LETTERS TO 27

Shenango High School paid its annual tribute to the young football and basketball stars last night at the school gym, with a fine banquet. Coach Eddie Nahas passed out 27 letters, and the 60 present, heard a stirring talk by Head New Castle High Basketball Coach William P. Douglass.

It was another triumph for Shenango coach Douglass. The dinner consisted of braised steak, mashed potatoes, carrots and all the trimmings and was very tasty and well served by the Shenango Township PTA members and girl students.

Ed Canan, team manager following the invocation by Glenn Johnston, supervising principal of Shenango Township, the dinner was enjoyed and the first part of the program was the pep singing led by Miss Leola Rowe, music teacher at Shenango.

Edwin E. Canan, principal of Shenango High assumed the role of toastmaster and his drill ways soon had the assembled guests in stitches, as he unfolded one joke after another and preceded each introduction with a witty remark.

First to speak was Julian Owce, in behalf of the football team, followed by Don Mayberry in behalf of the basketball team. Both boys had a nice delivery.

Bill Douglass, speaks Surprising the assembled boys and girls with his forceful manner and eloquence, was Head Basketball Coach at New Castle High, William P. Douglass, former Westminister star, founded his talk on several points mainly, fundamentals of winning games, courage, the will to win, cheer in athletics and over-confidence.

It was Douglass' first speech locally since assuming the New Castle High basketball reins and he made a decided hit. He delivered his talk in a straight-forward manner that had rapid attention. He speaks just as he coaches and that is with simplicity.

Assistant Coaches Speak
Douglass received quite an ovation as he finished his well chosen speech of advice to the young athletes.

John Susko, line coach at Shenango followed Douglass with a fine talk, and Jack Dunlap, physical education teacher and assistant coach, also spoke briefly as well. Charles "Bugs" Wither, News sports writer spoke briefly.

Nahas Awards 27
Coach Eddie Nahas at this juncture in the program made his annual speech and then passed out awards to 27 young winners of football and basketball letters as follows: Football—Seniors—John Cochran, Marion Tomczyk, Julian Owce, Robert Letzra, Charles Borsie, Bill Kiehl, Wes Fombelle, Don Mayberry and Glenn Shaffer; Juniors—Harry Zurasky, Bernard Daugherty, Ron Johns; Sophomores—Tom McGary, Lloyd Fombelle, Joe Dedo, Bill Tanner, Clayton Rogue and Anthony Valicak; Basketball—Seniors—Don Mayberry, Julian Owce, John Cochran, Frank Shoff, Charles McGary; Juniors—Ron Johns, Don Ziegler, and Student Manager Nick Kiriluk.

Cheerleaders Praised
Girl and boy cheerleaders present were—Donna Reis, Mildred Hay, Sue Bessel, Ralph McCannay, Mike Fiege, George Walcott, Mike Rowe. The cheerleaders, adviser, who made a brief talk when called on.

The final speaker was Glenn Johnston, who said that the Shenango boys did a fine job this year, the crowning event being the winning of the Tri-County basketball championship. Don "Stretch" Mayberry, the leading scorer in Section 21 and a great center, received quite an ovation in his last appearance at a Shenango High banquet.

It was a banquet that will live long in the memories of those who attended, to pay tribute to the list of great young athletes who are leaving Shenango.

Annual Drake Relays Start

DES MOINES, Ia., April 25.—(INS)—Track and field stars who compete in the 26th annual Drake relays are in Des Moines today.

Standout performers from schools in the central and southern states and a few from the Pacific coast were expected for the two-day exhibition.

Qualifying trials and seven championship events were scheduled for today.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

WE SHALL see what we shall see come April 30, when Elkins Brothers, local griddist, makes his pugilistic debut against Risieri Rozzi of Youngstown in a three-round amateur bout in The Arena. Judging from what Russell Baxter, pro' middleweight says, Brothers is ponderous and potent of fist, acts as though he has fought a score of times and Russ expects Brothers to stretch Rozzi like a rug before the end of the bout. It may be that Russell, having been aided and abetted in training by Brothers, has become overly-anamoured with his fast going on and has too much faith in Elkins' ability to stop Rozzi, who is a rather rugged chap, himself. However, all this talk about the coming bout leads to keen interest because it will be a New Castle vs. Youngstown fighter, both of whom weighs 180 pounds. It ought to be a free swinging affair with one or the other dropping prone some time before the nine minutes of hostilities end. For more clever action, fans will look to Tony Zanish of Sharon vs. Charlie Pastovich of Youngstown. Zanish, out-boxed Bill Bradley of New Castle then went on to take a split decision from Julius Vest of Youngstown. Pastovich gained a split decision over Johnny Tots of Alliquippa who apparently, in his last fight here, left his orthodox style in Alliquippa. Among the other bills calendared are Tommy Dye of Youngstown vs. Jimmy Bennett of Youngstown, Jimmy Zeka of Sharon vs. Leonard Poly of Youngstown, with four bouts yet to be announced.

Radiators Enjoy Bowling Banquet

Football Coach Melvin Hetzler Of Westminster, Is Principal Speaker Thursday

SYLVAN HEIGHTS SCENE OF BANQUET

You can't eat a bowling ball, and you can't roll a game with a roast chicken, but the two together and you have a lot of sport and good eating. Which is what the men of the National Radiator Bowling league did Thursday night.

April 24, in the Sylvan Heights dining room, it was the annual banquet of the league and every one of the 75 or more bowlers present rolled a perfect 300 in the roast chicken league.

Melvin A. Hetzler, football coach of Westminster college was the principal speaker and his talk fitted the occasion. On the lighter side he told some of his humorous football experiences and on the more serious side said that recreation in industries was a good thing for management and labor. He expressed the hope that some day recreation would be a part of every city's municipal program.

Other speakers included Fred A. Glenn, assistant superintendent of the local plant; John Velker, personnel manager; John Brincko, bowling alley proprietor; Fred Moles, the dean of bowlers in the radiator plant; and Augie Smarelli, captain of the victorious foundry team.

History was made in the bowling league the past season. The invincible "Manitowish" league champions since six cent. upset the team for a nickel, were upset this time and the Foundry lads breezed through to win. The Radiator team also won the City Industrial league championship, and now want a crack at the Blair Strip Steel team, winners of the City league.

Cash Prizes Awarded
Cash prizes were distributed to winners of various events such as high singles, high average, team average and the like. Titus Monahat the president of the league, presided at the dinner and expressed the appreciation of the league members for the work done by the arrangements committee, Kenneth McDonald, chairman. Howard Douglas, Fred Smarelli and Bob Saylor.

The dinner was one of the usual Haycock specials. Following the dinner the bowlers enjoyed an informal social session.

REDSKINS WIN, 5 TO 4

New Castle Redskins defeated the Forest A. C. last night at Bowles field, 5-4.

Bob Lee Mitchell and Santiago buried the winning ball. Pat Lane was the Forest chucker. H. Elizer poked a homer and Johnny Mitchell drove in the winning tally on a terrific single.

Banquet Honors Wampum High Basketball Team

Testimonial Dinner Held For Cage Kingpins Of Section 21 Thursday

HAROLD V. COHEN IN MAIN ADDRESS

Wampum high school's cage squad, authors of the most illustrious page in the city's basketball history, was honored last night in lavish style at a testimonial dinner held in the Presbyterian church of the community.

Against a background of gay spirit decorations and sitting at candle-lit tables heaped with delicious steaks and accompanying delicacies, over 100 guests paid homage to their great team which carried the banner of the school to the finals of the WPIAL playoffs, after winning their section honors.

Makes Welcome Speech
Following the invocation by Rev. J. Henry Thorner and the Pledge of Allegiance, Irvin V. Holmes, supervising principal of the high school, made his speech of welcome to the guests and the team members.

Burgess James L. Ferrante, whose clever wit and fast repartee easily fitted him for the role of toastmaster, was introduced by Mrs. Alfred Miles. Following Mr. Holmes' talk, Mr. Ferrante waded the guests to the fine food set before them and no one needed encouragement to "dig in" to the repast so well prepared and served by the women of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches.

Speaking Program

Carl B. Romaine, sports writer of The News, made brief remarks and was followed by L. Burton Hemmon, coach of the champion squad.

Hemmon lauded the team for its spirit all through the season, and said that the 1946-47 team was one of the finest he had ever coached. Following his short talk the Wampum mentor issued letters to Ed McMillin, Frank Procopio, Ray Armatario, Bob Grimes, John Miller and Orrin Vance. Beautiful blue letters were signed "WV" and went to Capt. Don Kanagy, Ray Jackson and "Chuck" Badger. Ed Capobello of the 1945-46 team was also honored.

Appropriate awards also went to the team managers for their important part in the successful season.

Dave Kanagy, captain of the team, spoke on behalf of his fellow players, and lauded the leadership of Coach Hemmon and the support of the entire town during the season.

Honor Cheer Leaders
Anthony Venturina, faculty member and supervisor of the cheer leaders for the season, spoke on behalf of his unit and was presented with a gift for his efforts with these hard-working boosters the past campaign.

Harold V. Cohen, drama critic of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, and one of Wampum's native sons, was the main speaker of the evening and delivered a short, sparkling talk to the team and the guests.

The Pittsburgh writer said that the feats of the cage team have spread the fame of Wampum far and wide and the name of the town is synonymous with great basketball teams and championships. Mr. Cohen, who was accompanied by his mother made a great hit with the guests as he drolly recollected bygone incidents during his residence in the community and spiced his remarks with a wealth of clever sayings.

Makes Report
The dinner closed with the financial report read by Mrs. Alfred Miles.

Music on the program was furnished by Dorothy Jean Anderson, Lois Vance and Margaret Vance, who sang, under the direction of Temoy McFate of the school faculty. Group singing was also led by the latter with Miss Anderson at the piano.

Members of the cage squad also were called to the platform in a "command" performance, their singing delighting the guests.

Williams After Bob Montgomery

Into Bout

COLUMBUS, O., April 25.—(INS)—

Panther-like Ike Williams of Trenton, N. J., recognized NBA world lightweight champion, insisted to-

ter than a meeting with Bob Montgomery, kingpin in New York and sundry other affiliated points.

"I'm afraid of no man in my weight class," Williams asserted flatly as he tuned up for a tenrounder tonight with Willie Russell of Columbus at the Fairgrounds

Coliseum in the Ohio capital.

Williams added that Montgomary's handlers "won't let him in the building, let alone the same ring

The NBA champion was kayoed

by Montgomery in 1944. He argues, however, that Montgomery caught him at the start of his career and that another bout would be a different story.

Jock Sutherland, on a visit to the Penn State football camp, guided Coach Bob Higgins for his experiments with the T-formation.

INS Reporter Reveals Present-Day Existence In Capital Of Bulgaria

(Following are impressions of Sofia, Bulgaria by an International News Service correspondent who traveled there with the United Nations Investigation Commission.)

By JOSEPH L. KANET
(U.N. Staff Correspondent)

SOPIA, April 25.—(By Airmail)—Booted Soviet soldiers with tommy-guns stand guard and a line of Red-starred fighter planes greets a visitor at the Bulgarian capital's airport.

Within the city, however, the Russians have withdrawn into the background. Except for an infrequent column of troops with Mongoloid faces shuffling through the streets, the Soviet Army is not very much in evidence.

Sofia's most luxurious hostelry is the Grand Hotel Bulgare, with appointments and service unsurpassed in eastern Europe. It is maintained by the government for the use of foreigners and diplomats.

Its manager, a uniformed commandant of the Bulgarian army, speaks English fluently.

The capital has put its best foot forward here, with well-lighted, beautifully furnished rooms and excellent food and wine available to guests. Despite the glitter, however, you realize you are outside the DDT sphere of influence when you spy a large cockroach leisurely traverse your bathroom floor.

Side by side, photographs of Stalin and George Dimitrov, Bulgaria's Communist boss, adorn walls, shop windows and government offices in Sofia.

Bomb Debris Noted
Widespread traces of bomb debris are a token of the air attacks the city underwent from Allied heavy bombers during the war.

Place-names have changed since prewar days. The pine forest along the slopes of Vitosha, the snow-flecked mountain behind Sofia, used to be called Boris Wood, after the late king; now they're called "Liberty Park."

The main thoroughfare has likewise undergone a subtle change. It was once called avenue of the Liberator Ovar, after Alexander III of Russia; now it's been renamed, simply, "Avenue of Liberation."

The nightly promenade typical of a European city begins along this avenue of dusk and lasts until about 11 p. m. during which time traffic is blocked off and crowds stroll in the streets or sit idly at cafes.

Sofia boasts one swank nightclub, the Astoria, where a danceband plays American tunes and Bulgarian champagne sells at 3,000 leva, a bottle (over $10). In all of Sofia's nightspots, the waiters and hostesses reputedly are police spies assigned by the government to keep tabs on the foreigners who constitute the bulk of the patrons.

Gondolas, the characteristic conveyances of Venice, were used as far back as 1094.
